

Red Siege Fails on 2 Sides

SAIGON (AP) - The enemy struck hard at Saigon from three sides today but a U. S. spokesman said American forces had smashed a Viet Cong drive to push into the capital from the south and east.

On the eve of Paris peace talks, however, the enemy drove closer to the center of Saigon than at any time since the new offensive was launched Sunday.

U. S. military spokesmen said 2,000 American infantrymen from the 9th Division, armored personnel carriers, helicopter gunships and dive bombers had broken up at least for the time being the drive from the south and east.

Helicopter gunships also wrecked two launching pads loaded with rockets less than a mile from the city.

A third enemy drive rolled up northwest of Saigon, sweeping aside two U. S. companies in the big push which officials believe is designed to bolster North Vietnam's hand at Paris.

The 9th Division infantrymen, known as the "Old Reliabilities," reported killing 131 enemy in a day-long battle that was still going on at nightfall.

"For the third consecutive day, the enemy was repulsed trying to enter Saigon from the south," an officer said. "More than 450 enemy have been killed in the last three days."

Ninth Division casualties were said to be seven killed in the latest fighting, with several more wounded.

The U. S. Command announced 250 enemy soldiers had been killed by allied forces in fighting around Saigon since the Communist command's new offensive began. Against this, U. S. casualties were put at 53 killed and 457 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were reported as 32 killed and 719 wounded.

The heavy fighting drove countless thousands of fearstricken civilians streaming across two bridges into the center of the city, and swelled the ranks of the homeless to more than 5000. Some didn't make it as the toll of civilian dead and wounded mounted to more than 2000.

President Nguyen Van Thieu went on nationwide television in efforts to calm the populace. He urged South Vietnam's people not to be misled by what he termed Communist propaganda and not to participate in nationwide demonstrations he said the Communists were planning. He warned that the national police were under orders to fire into crowds if Communist-directed demonstrations threatened government installations.

President Ho Chi Minh called on the Viet Cong to step up the fight against U. S. "aggression," said Radio Hanoi.

It was Saigon's worst day since Sunday, and new fears swept the city. Jets roared across the heart of the city, and moments later the thud of 500-pound bombs was heard.

They shook the downtown section.

Blocks of Saigon's southern and eastern sections were destroyed under the pounding of U. S. and South Vietnamese dive-bombers and helicopter gunships. Some houses were set afire by the Viet Cong to cover their movements.

The U. S. Command called in hundreds more infantrymen, tanks and helicopter gunships to meet the Viet Cong drive, which late Wednesday had appeared to be tapering off. There were reports, however, that the Viet Cong had brought up reinforcements through the night, covering their infiltration with diversionary shelling at other points.

Thieu Puts Price on Bomb Halt

SAIGON (AP) - President Nguyen Van Thieu declared today he will never agree to a complete halt in the bombing of North Vietnam without a halt of all infiltration into South Vietnam.

Speaking on the national television on the eve of the opening of preliminary peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam in Paris, the president took a hard line.

"I hope that we will not let the enemy profit by agreeing to a 100 per cent halt in the bombing in exchange for a false promise from the Communists that they will not infiltrate men and arms into South Vietnam, to help the National Liberation Front-NLF to continue their fight and force us to talk with the NLF," Thieu said.

"When Hanoi realizes that the NLF is their tool created in South Vietnam to cheat the South Vietnamese people, and when Hanoi wants to have a guaranteed, long lasting peace ... they must accept that the only one who can talk with them is the government of the Republic of Vietnam, a legal government elected by the people and with the full support of the people," he said.

Charleston Policeman Suspended After Fracas

CHARLESTON -- Frank Hudson Jr., a police patrolman since March 6, was suspended without pay for at least 10 days Tuesday following an incident in the Negro section Tuesday night.

Hudson was off duty and not wearing a uniform when the incident took place.

While driving out of Charleston, Hudson said he saw two Negro youths beating another Negro with clubs in front of Helen and Marshall Currins "Coco" Cafe on Elm and Marshall street.

Hudson called police and had a patrol car sent to the area. Patrolman Richard Wallace, formerly with the Sikeston police department, and patrolman Ben Stampley, a Negro officer, arrived.

The fight stopped when the patrol car arrived, and Hudson pointed out two youths who were beating another youth. Wallace and Stampley placed the youths under arrest and began leading them to the patrol car.

The arrested men, both of Charleston, were identified as Gary Betts, 19, and Walter Spence, 18. The youth who was being beaten was Purvis Lark, 29, also a Charleston Negro. He ran into the cafe when the police arrived.

A crowd of more than 100 formed in the street when the arrest was made. It was shouting for the Negroes not to go with the police.

Before the police got to the patrol car, Betts kicked officer Wallace in the groin with his knee, and struck him near the right eye with his fist, Wallace said.

Wallace continued, "I sprayed him with tear gas, but he ducked and the gas only touched the back of his neck. He then broke and ran."

Hudson said Betts was about to kick Wallace again, but he (Hudson) blocked the kick. Hudson said he then chased Betts out of the area.

Betts came back and Hudson was still in pursuit, he said. Jerry Grimes, another white officer, had arrived, and was trying to break up the crowd. Hudson said he asked Grimes for his pistol and Grimes unbuttoned the holster. Hudson then took the pistol and fired two shots in the air to disperse the crowd.

"They backed up, and I began chasing Betts again. I got pretty close to him and fired a third shot in the air. He stopped and I grabbed him, and hit him in the face with my fist. He broke again but I fired right over his head and he stopped. I struck him with the butt of the pistol and by then Grimes came over to assist."

Grimes said, at that point he sprayed Betts in the face with tear gas and the two officers took him to the patrol car.

Both Wallace and Stampley used tear gas on the crowd to get to the patrol car.

As they were about to leave when the Rev. E. L. Betts got into the patrol car, but Hudson told him to "get out, it wasn't a taxi service."

The Rev. Mr. Betts is the father of Gary Betts.

Police Chief Dolph Webb said when the patrolmen brought Betts and Spence to the station, about 60 Negroes were already gathered and shouting Hudson's name.

"I threatened to turn the fire hoses on them and they dispersed," Webb said.

"Then, it wasn't too long before we had a call that they were regrouping near the Currin Cafe. Sheriff W. J. 'Pedro' Simmons was called. He and the Rev. Mr. Betts went down the cafe and dispersed the crowd," Webb continued.

No charges were filed against Betts or Spence. Both were released. Betts was treated by a doctor for the cut on his head inflicted by the pistol.

Purvis Lark, the youth who Hudson said was being beaten, did not press charges. He told police they were playing.

Spence and Betts also told police they had a disagreement with Lark and were playing, when Hudson arrived.

Hudson said that he feels he a military restraint by North Vietnam in return for what Hanoi lists as its priority topic: "The unconditional cessation of the U. S. bombing raids and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam."

French diplomats in contact with North Vietnamese officials say Hanoi is confident that it will be able to attain its prime objective in the talks—the evacuation of U. S. troops from South Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese are reported to feel that the United States will eventually agree to a phased withdrawal under the cover of a political compromise in the South.

President Johnson said on the eve of Harriman's departure that the United States is pledged to honor its commitments in Asia "scrupulously."

Ho Urges Viet Cong To Step up Fight

TOKYO (AP) - North Vietnam's President Ho Chi Minh has called on the Viet Cong to step up their fight against U. S. "aggression" in South Vietnam, Radio Hanoi said today.

A Japanese-language official Voice of North Vietnam broadcast said Ho made the appeal in a letter addressed to Nguyen Huu Tho, chairman of the South Vietnam National Front for Liberation-NFL—a political organ of the Viet Cong, Wednesday.

The broadcast quoted Ho as saying the United States is speaking of peace talks on one hand but escalating the war in Vietnam on the other.

is being made a scapegoat to appease the Negro community.

"Webb and the City Manager James Butts told me I should have gone on without reporting the beating, and if I had reported it, I should have gone on a mile away and called in. Not even be there to identify the men," Hudson said.

Hudson also said the police chief and the city manager told him "as far as the Negroes fighting with other Negroes goes, that is okay."

Chief Webb said Hudson was "a fair officer, but inexperienced."

He does have potential, he said.

Ehen asked if the suspension was his idea or the city manager's, Webb said "It was his idea or the city manager's, Webb said 'It was decided upon.'"

Butts said today he expects to have all information on the incident investigated by Monday Charleston Police Department and to make final disposition then.

Hudson will be told whether he will be kept on the police force or dismissed, Butts said.

Butts said that Hudson was in the wrong. Hudson was not in uniform, not on duty, and did not properly identify himself, he said.

JERUSALEM (AP) - It was May 14, 1948, that David Ben-Gurion, then head of the provisional government, stood in the Tel Aviv Museum of Modern Art and announced the independence of the state of Israel.

On May 14 that year, the British mandate ended, the armies marched out, and the Israelis moved into the port of Haifa and hoisted the blue and white Star of David flag. The Arab states went to war against Israel the same day - a war that in many ways continues today.

The Jewish state actually came into being on May 15, but because this fell on the sabbath in 1948, it was decided to make the announcement the day before.

This year, the Israelis celebrated their Independence Day on May 2, under the 336-day Jewish lunar calendar.

They celebrated with a military as an "occupation power." Israeli soldiers still sit on Arab lands captured in the six-day war last June. The Israelis are concerned with the governing of hundreds of thousands of "conquered" Arabs, from Syria's Golan Heights, through the West Bank of Jordan, Gaza and the Sinai Peninsula.

In explaining why the Israelis hold on to that territory until the Arabs talk peace, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan recently said, "The old borders are untenable. ... If we want a viable state, we must not go back to the frontiers which created a situation of perpetual war."

Meanwhile, Arab guerrillas plague border settlements south of the Sea of Galilee and Israel counterattacks against bases in Jordan.

The shadow of war still hangs over Israel as the nation enters its 21st year.

Health Officials Report Rate Of Disease, Drug Use Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) - Government health officials have pictured the nation as beset with burgeoning problems of alcoholism, mental illness, venereal disease and drug use.

On top of that, the officials said, health-care costs are skyrocketing.

In testimony before a House subcommittee they reported:

"There are up to 6.5 million alcoholics in the land and their numbers grows by 200,000 annually. A growing percentage are married, middle-aged women of the middle and upper classes.

"In a typical community of 150,000 population, where 3,000 children are born annually, one of five will require some form of mental health service and 240 will be patients in mental hospitals in their lifetime."

"Gonorrhea is out of control, with a 12 per cent increase in reported cases in each of the last few years. In some population groups one of three have this venereal disease and don't know it."

"All economic groups and all age groups are involved in taking the mind-expanding drug LSD, but its is falling off in colleges and high schools because of the publicity about its danger."

The testimony before a House subcommittee came from Dr. William N. Stewart, U.S. surgeon general; Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, director of the National Institute of Mental Health; and Dr. David J. Sencer, director of the National Communicable Disease Center.

Their statements were made in March and released Wednesday.

Stewart said publicity about the dangers of LSD contributed to a decrease in its use by students but added: "There is no question that we have a problem in all economic groups and in all age groups."

Sencer said while there is adequate treatment for gonorrhea once it is detected, "the problem is we cannot diagnose it in females as well as in males."

"We found in limited studies that in certain population groups 35 per cent of the women are silent carriers of the disease and we know we do not have the tools for control yet," he added.

He said the incidence of syphilis remains steady. "Only about 25 per cent of the syphilis cases being treated by private physicians are being reported," Sencer said.

Dr. Carruth J. Wagner, director of the National Bureau of Health Services, told the subcommittee hospital costs will probably reach $100 a day within five years, compared with their current average of $65 daily. He said doctor's fees have gone up 14 per cent in the past two years.

Surtax Gains Assent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate-House conferees have agreed to President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge but tied it to a $6 billion spending cut he has said is against the national interest.

The conferees said Wednesday they had accepted these two key points which the Senate approved more than a month ago.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the conferees as well as of the House Ways and Means Committee, voiced hope the group could complete work on many other amendments to the bill at a final session today.

The income-tax increase is the 10 per cent surcharge proposal applying to both individuals and corporations which the administration has been pushing since last August.

It would yield $10 billion on a yearly basis. It would last 15 months for individuals, from April 1 this year to June 30, 1969, and 18 months for corporations, retroactive from Jan. 1 this year to mid-1969.

About 17 million low-income taxpayers would be exempt.

Taxpayers who would be exempt are individuals owing no more than $15 in taxes or couples owing no more than $30.

Withholding of the additional tax from individuals, if the bill is passed on the schedule its handlers are mapping, probably would begin in June.

Conferees said there is no intention of spelling out in the legislation's final form the exact places where the $6 billion spending cut for the year beginning July 1 will be applied. This would be left to the executive branch, which has indicated the cut would affect education, welfare, veterans' medical, model cities and other programs.

The draft legislation would exempt from the cuts Vietnam expenditures, veterans pensions and compensation, interest on the public debt and Social

The $6 billion spending reduction proposal has drawn heavy fire from Johnson and other administration officials.

The President told a news conference last Thursday that to go beyond a $4 billion cut in expenditures for the next year "would, injure the national interest."

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a principal author of the package Senate amendment which included the tax boost and spending cut, said the conference action was "a fine victory."

Exempted from the spending cut would be funds for the Vietnam war, Social Security, veterans' payments and interest on the national debt.

It was understood the conferees also had agreed tentatively to Senate provisions for a rollback of about 150,000 in the number of federal employees and cuts of $10 billion in new appropriations for fiscal 1969.

They added to the measure a provision sought by the House delegation calling for cancellation of $8 billion in past, unspent appropriations.

The House did some slashing Wednesday when it passed and sent to the Senate a $13.67 billion appropriation bill for the Department of Housing and Urban Development and 20 independent agencies.

This was $2.89 billion less than the President had requested, boosting to about $4.5 billion the total cuts voted this year by the House in three bills. None has passed the Senate.

Car Insurance Rates Cut Two Per Cent

Boothel motorists, who carry automobile insurance with companies affiliated with the insurance rating board, will get a two per cent reduction in rates.

This reduction applies to Butler, Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot, Scott and Stoddard counties.

The changes for private passenger cars, now in effect, amount to an overall reduction in the rate of 5.6 per cent.

In Cape Girardeau county the reduction is nine per cent. The reductions range upward from two per cent to 27 per cent in metropolitan St. Louis.

They do not affect existing policies except as they are renewed.

Despite the national rising trend in automobile crashes and hospital, medical and repair costs, Missouri statistics of IRB's member companies for recent years indicated reduced rates are in order. This change is in accord with the insurance practice of adjusting rates to follow claims experience.

The board pointed out that the reductions vary by territory within the state. Basing rates on the claim picture in individual territories enables the insurance companies, so far as possible, to reflect each area's deserved share of the state's insurance bill, the board said.

There are 14 rating territories in Missouri. Claims from insured accidents incurred only by cars garaged in a territory are counted in developing the loss picture for that territory. Thus, if a driver from territory A has an accident in territory B, the insurance result is charged to territory A.

Other factors also influence the amount an individual pays for his insurance. This accounts for the fact that people living in the same territory pay different premiums.

Such factors include: the type of coverage selected; age, sex, marital status and driving record of the motorist; the use to which the car is put; and the year, make and model of the automobile.

SOCIALISM & PERSONAL ENTERPRISE

ONE TAKES FREEDOM, THE OTHER GIVES IT

The difference between a free nation such as ours and a slave nation such as the Soviet Union can be stated:

In a free nation, the people accept the responsibility for their own welfare; in a slave nation that responsibility is turned over to a police state.

In a free nation the government gets its rights from the people. In a slave nation, the people get their rights, if any, from the state.

Under our personal enterprise system, the individual is free to make something of himself if he has the "enterprise" to do so.

The phrase "personal enterprise system" sounds simple; in reality, it is not simple at all. Many people living under it today have only a vague idea what it is all about. The system, like freedom in any form, involves risk. Freedom and complete security are fundamentally incompatible. A cradle-to-the-grave welfare state may be possible, but not within a context of freedom.

Opposing increased governmental intervention are those who believe that the people's needs can be filled best in a free society. They believe that economic well-being can be achieved almost directly in proportion to the amount of freedom the people enjoy. In this group we find those who feel that if the people can be freed from government control, they will achieve their own prosperity.

But those who believe in the personal enterprise system also recognize that the burden of proof rests squarely on their shoulders. It is easy to say that our American system offers both economic security and freedom; to demonstrate it is more difficult. However, the personal enterprise system has received some boosting from unexpected sources. In 1962, a large metropolitan newspaper carried an editorial on a most significant admission from Moscow. The editorial stated:

"In a long article in Izvestia, O.K. Antonov, a Russian engineer, says that the trouble with Soviet industry is that it doesn't have any 'feedback'."

"The heart of the problem," he says, "is that Russian production statistics don't reflect any real increase in economically useful goods. Much of the production is of poor quality and not what is needed anyway." He cites examples of textile factories producing cloth that no one wants and paper mills producing cardboard that's not of the right thickness and weight.

"Under capitalism," he writes, "this doesn't happen because the producer gets a feedback from the customer, which is an engineer's way of saying that the customers protest by not buying." He explains that the capitalist manufacturer of poor-quality goods soon learns from the market place that his goods are not selling. This "forces" the capitalists to make things better, sturdier and cheaper."

The editorial closed with: "We wonder what will happen to Mr. Antonov when all this capitalistic talk feeds back to the Kremlin."

The Russian engineer was right when he berated the inefficiency of the totalitarian state. Socialism ended competition; and once the state became the complete master of the Russian people, there was no need for the government to cater to their wants or desires. The consumers could only buy what the government wanted to sell them, or they could go without.

And of course, the shifty ways of Soviet style socialism can adopt any means to keep its tight grasp on its subjects. Khrushchev has spoken highly of the productive capacity of American agriculture and has taken steps to increase the output of the Soviet Union's fertilizer industry.

Khrushchev has explained Marxism's experiments with free enterprise methods in words that clearly spell out socialism's failures:

They are being adopted because orthodox Marxism no longer is bringing in "good goulash" -- or, stripped of Khrushchevian metaphor -- a rapid rate of economic advance.

What other evidence do the liberal super-intellectuals need to be convinced that by denouncing personal enterprise they are digging their own graves?

Under the personal enterprise system, and limited government, Americans have freedom. It is therefore difficult to understand why so many intelligent people keep insisting that our country be socialized. The personal enterprise system, which has been miraculously successful here and is being proved in many parts of the world today, is being lampooned and lambasted by a large percentage of our own people. They insist that we scrap it in favor of a socialistic system which has nothing to recommend it but a record of abysmal failure, suffering and enslavement wherever it exists -- a system with far greater risks involved than those inherent in the personal enterprise system.

Socialism -- collectivism, communism, welfare statism, call it what you will -- is the enemy of mankind. If we do not curb its influence upon our lives, we shall reduce ourselves to the same state of suffering and misery existing in so much of the world today.

What then, must be done? Those who realize that the personal enterprise system is the way to meet the needs of the people have a definite responsibility. Theirs is the obligation to guard and maintain that system.

For example, a good deal of government regulation of our economic system moves in after indefensible business practices are exposed. The passage of the Pure Food and Drug Act in 1906 is one example. The philosophy of the personal enterprise system is not an "anything goes" philosophy. All who believe in our system have the responsibility of eliminating abuses before government moves in. The person who invests is taking a risk; but the person who buys a product or service should not have to take the risk of being cheated.

What other evidence do the liberal super-intellectuals need to be convinced that by denouncing personal enterprise they are digging their own graves?

Adherence to the highest ethical standards is not enough to preserve both our economic system and our freedom. The system itself must be made to operate with ever-increasing efficiency. The demands made on it are so great that inefficiency and waste can be tolerated no more than the unscrupulous. Those who support the system are usually loud and harsh in their condemnation of governmental waste and inefficiency. How then, can they turn a tolerant eye on the same practices in the private sector of our economy?

Another threat to our system is the businessman who welcomes government intervention -- when it happens to work to his advantage.

A positive step we all can take to maintain the personal enterprise system is to battle against "economic illiteracy." Ironically, those who believe strongly in our system must bear the responsibility for the appalling popular ignorance of its principles. The father who is dismayed by the attitude of his teen-age children toward personal enterprise should ask himself how much time he has spent explaining the economic facts of life to them.

We should all ask ourselves how much individual effort we have put forth to help keep the personal enterprise a vital reality. It is destructive of the system to say that we haven't the time; that we have all we can do to take care of our own businesses, our own professions, our own families.

If we are to preserve freedom, we must each accept the challenge and risks involved in the preservation of that way of life.

NEW YORK (AP) -- Bob Hope, who is only a short put from being 65, has already set a goal for his 100th birthday.

"I'd still like to be around then," he said, "and playing in a show on the moon."

That isn't just one of the blithe-spirited comedian's five million catalogued jokes. He has a good chance of making history as the first professional laughman to become a centenarian.

"My grandfather lived to be a month short of 100," he remarked, "and I have a couple of uncles who are about 90 and still hale."

Keeping physically fit has also been a lifelong part of his philosophy. He holds his weight around a trim 175 pounds by regular golf sessions, long walks, and daily stretching exercises.

Over a luncheon of scrambled eggs, apple pie and black coffee, Hope complained mildly that recent reports of his wealth had been greatly exaggerated.

"Lord, I got rich all of a sudden," he said. "One magazine hinted I was worth about half a billion dollars, and then Fortune Magazine lists me in the $150-to-$200-million bracket. Now I'm waiting for Reader's Digest to come out and tell me how much I really have."

"Then, I suppose, I'll have to get in touch with that lady astrologer in Washington and find out where it all is. Everybody thinks you've got it in your golf pants. It's murder."

INTERNATIONAL SWEDISH TRADE FAIR. May 10-19. Göteborg, Sweden.

School officials, driver education instructors, government officials, Highway Patrol safety officers and other interested groups will be working together at the annual spring meeting of the Missouri Driver and Safety Education Association, May 17-19, 1968, at Lake Ozark, Missouri.

Robert L. Marshall, Executive Secretary of the Association and Director of the new Safety Education Center at Central Missouri College in Warrensburg, says the meeting is one of the most important and will probably be the best attended since the Association was organized.

Mr. Clarence E. Gawer, President of the Association and recipient of the Award of Driver

Education Instructor of the Year, said, "The National Highway Safety Bureau of the Federal Highway Administration has promulgated standards for driver education which all of the states must reach. Missouri is actively working toward providing the requirements of the standards through cooperative studies and planning and through activities such as the spring meeting." Gawer is an instructor in the Owensville High School.

Missouri Highway Patrol safety officers from each of the Patrol's troop areas have been assigned to the meeting. Captain F. W. Shadwell of the Patrol's Division of Safety and Administration said the safety officers conduct adult driver improvement programs throughout the State and work closely with school driver education teachers in presenting parts of the traffic safety training.

Driver education is one of the major weapons in the overall attack on growing traffic problems. Missouri has an excellent driver education program. The federal standards will require a greatly expanded program available to every youth of driving age, and to adults as well in certified classes.

The new Safety Education Center at Central Missouri College in Warrensburg will be a boon to the State in helping to produce trained teachers for the expanded program.

SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED TO 4-H STUDENTS
Sam Hall Jr. and Kay Sloop, both of Iredell County in North Carolina, and four other 4-H members were selected as highest achievers in 4-H Club Health activities among the more than sixty state winners (some states select two).

Awarded $500 scholarships during the recent 4-H Congress were: Hal of Statesville; Miss Sloop, Mount Ulla; Linda Jo Conley, Nutter Fort, West Virginia; Tom Hartje, Oakland, Iowa; Gilbert Landry, Jr., Napoleonville, Louisiana; and Judy Strike, Cheyenne, Wyoming.

The youths received their awards from health program sponsor Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, at a banquet attended by fifty-two state winners from over the nation and from Puerto Rico. The Lilly company has sponsored the 4-H health program nationally for twelve years.

Speaker for the banquet was astronaut Captain James Lovell, who is President Johnson's consultant for physical fitness. The Navy pilot was aboard Gemini 7 during its history-making orbital flight of 330 hours, 35 minutes, was command pilot for the Gemini 12 flight, and now is a member of the Apollo moon voyage team.

Wife to husband: Dear, why don't you take Junior to the zoo? Husband: Nothing doing! If they want him, let them come and get him.

Betcha didn't know... That you can size up the new neighbor when their kid screams "I ain't a goin' to do it!" and you hear nothing go WHAM.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: LBJ was about to resume bombing; Alice Longworth recalls King Olav of Norway recently, she recalled how her father, the late President Theodore Roosevelt, had taken her as a young girl to call on the Norwegian royal family.

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson was just about ready to resume full air attacks on North Vietnam when the communists dramatically broke the impasse over a truce site.

He had received an urgent warning from the joint chiefs that the Viet Cong were planning another spectacular attack upon Saigon with the shouldered monarch, weighing American Embassy again a prime about 200 pounds. He was royally welcomed first by President Johnson, who hailed him as a "non-political man," then by Vice President Humphrey, whose mother was Norwegian, and then by Chief Justice Warren, whose father was born in Norway.

The President concluded, in Minnesota, said Vice President Humphrey, "provided truce talks until they could officiate."

LYNDON GETS TOUGH
President Johnson had an off-the-record conference with Democratic congressional leaders before he let loose his tough "bite-the-bullet" attack on the ways and means committee.

Having served 30 years on Capitol Hill, LBJ knows that you don't rile congressmen except as a last resort.

But Johnson also has a very high regard for the presidency and has studied the battles which Harry Truman staged to preserve the rights of the executive. Before the Potsdam conference when Truman was urged to take senate advisers with him for the talks with Stalin and Churchill, he refused, pointing out that to negotiate foreign policy was the business of the President.

Again after the Korean war got started, Truman was urged to get senate approval of the war by a special resolution. He refused, pointing out that the United Nations had already ok'd the war.

Hanoi quibbled over a truce site. "CUTE LITTLE KING" When Alice Roosevelt Longworth paid her respects to King Olav of Norway recently, she recalled how her father, the late President Theodore Roosevelt, had taken her as a young girl to call on the Norwegian royal family.

"The King was only five years old at that time," Mrs. Longworth said. "He was such a cute little boy."

Mrs. Longworth, now over 80, this time found King Olav to be a very solid, square-attack upon Saigon with the shouldered monarch, weighing American Embassy again a prime about 200 pounds. He was royally welcomed first by President Johnson, who hailed him as a "non-political man," then by Vice President Humphrey, whose mother was Norwegian, and then by Chief Justice Warren, whose father was born in Norway.

"I shall be happy to have you there," said Vice President Humphrey, "provided you do not run for public trust until they could officiate."

At the off-the-record White House meeting, however, Johnson went a long way by reluctantly agreeing to a $4 billion cut in the 1969 budget, plus other cuts.

"YES OR NO?" -- LBJ -- After unfolding the plan he looked around the room for reaction. There was none.

Finally, Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the Democratic house leader, broke the silence. Carl is short, mild-mannered, dedicated to honest government, and has supported the public good even when he knew it would hurt him politically as in open housing.

"I'll buy that," he said quietly.

"I'll go along," agreed speaker John McCormack of Boston.

"I think the proposition is perfectly fair," said George Mahon of Texas, after some hesitation.

But chairman Wilbur Mills, who had opposed a tax increase for nine long months, was silent.

chairman of the tax-writing ways and means committee, is viewed by President Johnson as a means of hamstringing the executive by refusal to increase taxes and thereby indirectly writing the federal budget.

"What about you, Wilbur?" asked the President.

"Well, I'll consider it," replied the cautious Arkansan.

"That's not what I asked," challenged the President. "Are you for it or aren't you for it? Yes or no?"

"All right, I'll go along," said Mills.

But the next day in the ways and means committee Mills reneged. He said he would pass the ten per cent surtax increase only if the administration cut $6 billion from the 1969 budget instead of $4 billion. This was what the President saw. He knew that the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition was trying to cut education, anti-poverty and welfare. So he issued his "stand up like men and answer the roll call" blast at congress. It was a deliberately calculated blast and it got results. The ways and means committee voted out a tax increase 17 to 16.

IT'S EASY TO QUIT
It is easy to quit. Anyone can say, "The hill is too high," or "It's too far away." Anyone can say, "I'm too tired to keep on." And stop halfway there. But don't be that one. Whenever life gives you a task hard to do, Don't stop in the middle, but see the thing through.

It is easy to quit. Any fool can explain. To himself and his friends why the struggle was vain. It doesn't take brains when you start cutting loose. From a difficult task to think up an excuse. There is always a plausible, soul-soothing excuse. On the tongue of the chap who says "It's no use."

In the present-day era, when much of the "thinking" is done by leaders and intriguers, the old story of the Indian who was building a boat may be helpful. The Indian was carving his canoe out of a huge log. A man came along and said, "Chief, I think she's too wide for her length." So the Indian narrowed her down. A little later, another man came along, who said, "Chief, it looks to me that the stern's too full." So he cut down the stern.

A third man came, watched the Indian chisel awhile, and, giving the canoe a close look, said, "The bow's too sheer, Chief." So the Indian changed the bow. When the canoe was finally finished, the Indian launched it in the near-by river, but it capsized. He hauled it back on the beach, found another log and began again. Once more a man came along and offered advice, but this time the Indian answered, "That boat over there -- that everybody's boat," pointing to the monstrosity on the bank. "This one Indian's boat!"

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

LABOR'S CIVIL WAR:

National Labor Leaders Set To Raid Reuther's Auto Union. Atlantic City: For the moment Walter Reuther has the quip hand over the less rhetorical and more portly leaders of labor -- but they're set to give him the whipping of his life.

The Detroit redhead wants a fight and he'll get it. Labor's old time heavy-weights have him outnumbered, outfinanced, outmaneuvered and isolated. That's obvious here from the count of fraternal visitors at the United Auto Workers massive 21st Constitutional Convention.

Though thousands cheer him here, he walks alone. No other union of consequence, perhaps not even one of the 129 national labor organizations in the AFL-CIO will bolt with him.

The teachers, whom he has claimed as friends, have turned to the big Machinists union to help them raise a million dollar militancy fund.

A United Rubber Workers' official has just told me that his union has not even discussed the matter and is "following AFL-CIO policy." The government workers leader, John Griner, says rumors that the American Federation of Government Employees will leave the AFL-CIO are entirely false. And so it goes with old and new friends.

Reports of an alliance with the 2 million-member Teamsters union are as worthless as a czarist ruble. The Teamster behemoth will rejoin the AFL-CIO by the end of 1969.

Informal talks between the labor federation and the Teamsters' brotherhood are as ubiquitous as a Reuther invective. There is, in fact, installment plan merging.

The Teamsters are officially part of dozens of AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Councils across the nation -- and have worked closely with AFL-CIO unions in recent strikes.

They await only a Supreme Court rejection of Jim Hoffa's appeal from his five-year sentence for defrauding the Teamsters' Central States pension fund. This will mean he could not hold office in the huge union for many years -- and the "Teamsters" will roll back into the federation.

So will those old legions of the past, the United Mine Workers. This union's leaders await only the moment when what the President saw. He knew that the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition was trying to cut education, anti-poverty and welfare. So he issued his "stand up like men and answer the roll call" blast at congress. It was a deliberately calculated blast and it got results. The ways and means committee voted out a tax increase 17 to 16.

Thus the AFL-CIO will grow mightier as Reuther grows lonelier. And the 73-year-old George Meany, who as they say inside labor "grows younger as Reuther grows older," will lead the most powerful labor phalanx of the free world.

Yept, but you don't here of one hinr out and then selln out. And if he's like that Editor Blanton he will gives that establishment a run for their money and be on the job like Paul Jones was. One thing, if he gets lected he'll tell em out loud where Tony held the wedge.

H.L. Hunt Says

PERSONAL ENTERPRISE VS. BUREAUCRACY

A bureaucratically-run business operation cannot function as well as a privately-operated business. Ample proof is found by comparing two organizations dealing with communications: the United States Post Office Department, run by the government, and American Telephone and Telegraph, a privately owned business.

Over the years, the telephone system has held its prices down, and in some cases substantially reduced them. In 1932, a three-minute station-to-station telephone call from Boston to San Francisco cost $9.50 during the day, $5.75 at night. Currently the day rate is $1.75, the night rate $1.00, a decrease of 82.5%.

In the postal system, the opposite has been true. In 1932 a first class letter, sent regular mail, cost 2 cents; by air mail, 5 cents. In 1968, a first class letter is now 6 cents regular mail, 10 cents air mail. The cost of living has gone up 20% in that time and the industrial price index 7%, but the Post Office rates have increased 65% and 100%.

The increased cost of the postal service compared to that of the telephone system can be traced largely to the relative efficiency of the two systems. Between 1930 and 1966, the telephone company increased the number of calls per employee handled daily by 125%, while the Post Office could increase the number of pieces of mail handled daily per employee by only 36%.

Since 1935, the telephone company has paid $30,045 million in taxes, while the Post Office has received a $12,843 million subsidy from the taxpayer. It is obvious from this comparison that bureaucrats do not make good businessmen. H.L.H.

He's so little worried about the man from Detroit that he plans barely to mention "Walter" at next Monday's AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting in Washington. Meany, an old vaudeville buff, argues more strongly about what Smith and Hale said in the '20s than he does about what Reuther said 20 minutes ago.

Meany has the AFL-CIO 29-man council with him unanimously -- or almost so. There might be a lone champion of the auto-union's torch bearer. The last thing Meany worries about is money. The federation has it.

In fact it can make a $500,000 annual profit if Reuther leaves. All it need do is raise the monthly per capita penny a man -- 12 cents a year -- and he takes in more than Reuther has been paying.

In the past year the auto union pleaded poverty and was "exonerated" from paying four months dues to the AFL-CIO.

So Reuther's ultimatum will lead to civil war on the labor front here and abroad.

Many leaders of the 3.5 million member building and construction trades unions have been itching to get at the redhead. But under the AFL-CIO Constitution's article 21, which outlaws raiding, the auto union has been protected.

The burly veteran leaders have taken his taunts. Now they're ready to slug back. They'll move in on his skilled trades.

They'll try to carve up his union by demanding that they get departmental jurisdiction over electricians, carpenters, pipefitters, etc., in plants big and small. They're fantastic tacticians. They've millions of dollars and battalions of lawyers.

They've battled American presidents and have won. They've fought off political parties. They took all of John Lewis' Shakespearean slings and arrows, and isolated the man who shook the earth when he strode this land. When he left the movement, as Walter Reuther now leaves them, he faded into obscurity.

The Miners dwindled. The AFL-CIO grew so that it now represents fully 35 per cent of the America labor force "eligible for unionization."

They may appear like the caricaturist's version of plumbers. They may talk like Damon Runyon characters. They may be the ponderous establishment and easy marks for Galbraithian and Reutherian professional mockery.

But they're the most agile and powerful organizers in this nation. They've taken Reuther's jibes for a long time.

Now they intend to do some cutting up of their own. Reuther has asked for it. He'll get it.

All-American's

Two of Southeast Missouri's scholarship and participation in most prolific scorers and most exciting basketball players during the 1967-68 season were named to the honorable mention list of Coach and Athlete magazine's prep all-America basketball team today.

Both members of the class M state high school all-state team and one a two-year member led their teams in scoring.

Greg Flaker of Notre Dame high school in Cape Girardeau was the two year all-star named and Leonard Bishop of the class M state champion Matthews Pirates team was the other named.

Only seniors are eligible for the squad selected by high school coaches, college scouts and sportswriters in the United States.

Flaker led his team to the class M state tournament his junior year in which it finished third and Flaker was named to the all-state team.

Bishop was named to the all-state team this season along with Flaker and teammate Amon Ring after the pair led their team to the state Class M championship.

The selection of the players for the All-America team is based on character, basketball ability, sportsmanship,

AMES, Iowa (AP) — More than 250 of the country's top wrestlers got down to the serious business of trying to make the U.S. Olympic team today.

WANTED TO PAY TAXES
PHOENIX (AP) — State income tax officials have found a happy taxpayer.

Tax chief Robert Merrill reported a Phoenix man sent in a $10 check with a notation: "Although I owe no state tax, I feel obligated to help pay the cost of operating the state government."

A check of the man's tax return revealed that he actually owed $5 in tax. Merrill said the whole amount will be tossed in the pot with other tax monies without asking the man for a corrected tax form.

A Springfield man won the top prize in the Forsyth, Mo., "White Bass Round-Up" which concluded April 30. Charles Coonrod, a City Utilities lineman, caught the largest white bass reported in more than a month of fishing on Upper Bull Shoals Lake in the Forsyth area.

The winning fish tipped the Hobart scales at three pounds, twelve ounces. Coonrod's performance was of truly championship calibre as he entered 12 fish in the competition that qualified as "lunkers," weighing three pounds or more.

For his efforts, Coonrod won a new Berkley Para-Metric Rod and Berkley 440 Ultra-Light Reel which was presented by Dr. John Clark, White Bass Round-Up, chairman and president of the Forsyth Chamber of Commerce.

This year's winning fish, which was caught on a gold Rapala, was not a personal record for Coonrod. Two years ago he landed a four pound, two ounce white bass. He has been a steady angler in the Forsyth area for nine years. In three weeks of fishing this year, he missed catching his daily limit of 15 on only a few days.

Dr. Clark announced that plans are already being made to expand the 1969 White Bass Round-Up, with more prizes and entertainment. The Jaycees fish fry, held in Shadow Rock Park April 13, was a sell-out; hundreds of individual prizes were awarded, and nearly 1,000 souvenir badges were distributed.

High water conditions greatly favored boat fishermen this year, whereas in most years those fishing off the bank compete on a nearly equal basis. The number of fish caught in the Forsyth area each year during the white bass spawning season numbers well up in the thousands. Most spectacular catches this year were in Beaver Creek, and the world famous "Pothole" below Powersite Dam.

Hunters killed 1,271 turkeys in the five days of Missouri's 1968 wild turkey season, April 24 through 28. The harvest was an even 80 more than the 1,191 in last year's seven-day hunt.

First reports indicated a final total of 1,261, but a recount of daily tabulations found an additional 10 birds.

The daily kill figures this year were 329; 308; 235; 232; and 167. Last year, the daily kill was: 336; 105; 172; 178; 152; and 95.

SHS Bows In State Playoff

The Sikeston high school baseballers, march toward a state high school baseball title ended yesterday. They bowed to a well rounded West Plains team, 5-2.

West Plains advances to regional play at Cape Girardeau Wednesday most likely against a rugged Jackson Indian team.

Things would not fall into place for the Bulldogs. Time after time they would begin to show life and then falter.

Mike Garner did about everything yesterday to try to pull the game out of the fire for his teammates. He singled in the first inning to extend his hitting streaks to 13 straight games. He caught for two innings doing his usually excellent job. He pitched the last five and 1/3 innings in relief allowing his opponents one run and two hits.

It was the disastrous second inning that ruined the Dogs' hopes of moving on in state play. West Plains pushed across four of their five runs.

It went like this. Dennis Harris and Joe Fox led off the inning with singles, then Mike Cawre reached base on an error and two runs were scored. Joey Howell reached base next on a walk and Ron Lavin forced him at second making the first out of the inning.

Gaylord Gregory then walked. Roger Cromer, singled to right off the foot of a Sikeston player driving in the third run of the inning. The final run was scored when Bruce Basham walked, driving in the fourth run of the inning. Garner came in to take the mound with bases loaded and retired the westerners.

West Plains scored its fifth run in the fourth inning when Pitcher Gaylord Gregory singled.

Center Fielder Don Harris tripled to deep right center field. Dye followed with a single by beating out a beautiful bunt to keep things going but the next batter grounded out to end the productive fourth.

Sikeston threatened again in the last of the seventh in one final effort but failed, leaving two ducks on the pond ending of Cape Girardeau.

The loss moved the Bulldogs into the record to 9 and 4 and the Dogs seniors, who wore their winners to 15 and 1. The school colors for the last time, baseballers outfit the West were Wiss, Webb Edwards, Hart, Plains team six to five but McDaniels, Felker, and the team bunched four of their hits leader and captain, Garner.

In case yesterday's game was the last for the Bulldogs, they have no schedule games but hope to get a final double header with Notre Dame in case yesterday's game was the last for the Bulldogs.

Air Buses to Be Quieter, More Comfortable

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The First public showing of one of the huge "air buses" you'll be riding in the 1970's indicates they'll be quieter and more comfortable and they'll shave ground time at the airport by many minutes.

They'll carry about 300 passengers each, which may mean no more long caravans of planes on airport taxiways, waiting in line to take off.

With more passengers per plane, it should take fewer planes to handle the load of people who want to fly and this should reduce airport congestion.

This was the picture drawn Wednesday at the first briefing on McDonnell Douglas Corp.'s DC10, a 180-foot-long, 20-foot-diameter giant expected to make flying tests in 1970 and begin carrying passengers a year later.

A full-scale mockup, seven feet wider than today's big airliners, showed a mixed-class seating arrangement for 271 passengers, six abreast in first class and up to nine abreast in the economy section. A spokesman said 330 could be carried in some versions.

Even the economy seats will be wider and have more leg room than first class seats today, he said.

A spokesman said the three engines—developing almost three times the thrust of today's four-engine planes—would be noticeable quieter inside and out and be much less of a nuisance to residents around airports, primarily because of noise insulation around the engine pods.

Catfish Perfect; Cards Blanket Mets

It has been an adventuresome 22 years for Jim "Catfish" Hunter who pitched his way out of Hartford, N.C., and into the record book with the ninth perfect game in modern baseball history Wednesday night.

Hunter drove in three runs with a pair of singles and mowed down 27 straight Minnesota hitters for the second nohitter of the young baseball season, beating the Twins 4-0.

It was the first regular season perfect game in 46 years in the American League and it's a cinch it was the first masterpiece hurled by a pitcher with only nine toes.

Hunter, who pocketed $75,000 of Charlie Finley bonus money in 1964, lost the big toe on his right foot in a hunting accident in November, 1963. Shortly after signing with the A's, who still were in Kansas City then, Hunter was hospitalized to have shotgun pellets removed from his foot.

The operation slowed his progress and at one point the A's considered dropping the young right-hander but the big bonus investment convinced them to stick with him and he came through handsomely.

Wednesday's masterpiece against the Twins might have shaken most young pitchers. But not Catfish. He'd been this route before.

In 1963, Hunter threw 123 and Madison was third with 115.

Three new counties — 35 were open this year — produced good but not spectacular harvests. Barry reported 12, Camden 8 and Osage 10.

Two 17-pound turkeys were reported. One was killed by Rea Yarnell of Houston in Texas County, and the other by Gerald Kalkofen of Mexico in Callaway County.

Another perfect game—for Perquimans County High School back in Hertford, N.C. Wednesday's gem came in the Oakland Coliseum, 2,580 miles from Perquimans County. It's understandable why Catfish had to spell the name of the school five times to newsmen. After all, they must have been nervous. Few had seen any perfect games before.

Hunter, who got his nickname from his parents after he ran away from home when he was a youngster and returned with two catfish, earned an immediate $5,000 raise from Finley for his perfect game.

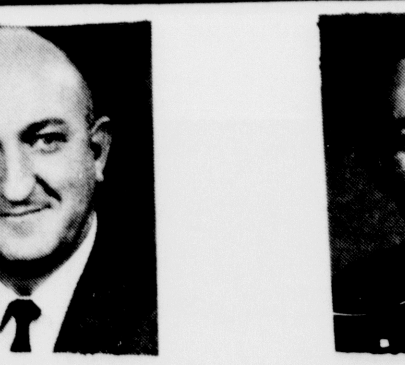

The last American League pitcher to hurl a perfect game was Don Larsen, who did it for the New York Yankees against Brooklyn in the 1956 World Series. Before that in the American League, you have to go back to Charlie Robertson, who did it for the Chicago White Sox against Detroit April 30, 1922.

More recently there have been Jim Bunning for Philadelphia in 1964 and Sandy Koufax for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1965.

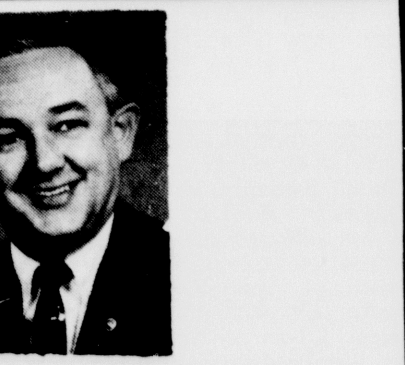

Catfish was also the batting star for the A's, driving in three of their four runs. He struck out 11 and finished with a flourish, fanning Rich Reese after the pinch hitter had fouled off five straight pitches.

Kennedy Bucks Humphrey for UAW Support

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was vote-hunting today among United Auto Workers, whose help Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey asked for Wednesday in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination against Kennedy and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

Some 3,000 convention delegates representing the UAW's 1.6 million members are gathered here. Humphrey scarcely had left convention hall before "We want Kennedy" placards and banners began replacing those proclaiming "We Want HHH." Kennedy speaks today. McCarthy and two Republican candidates for nomination, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, reported they had been unable to work acceptances of UAW invitations into their schedules.

The union usually backs Democrats, but has decided to withhold endorsement of any presidential candidate until after the Republican and Democratic conventions this summer. Humphrey pleaded with the delegates to back President Johnson as strongly in Vietnam peace negotiations as they would their union leaders in contract negotiations. Delegates applauded Humphrey often and his introduction set off an around-the-hall parade of several score of placard-carrying supporters led by a drummer and two accordion players.

Among the loudest cheers he took it as a mandate from them to send "a telegram of warmth and congratulations" to the former president. Claiming "25 years of close association with the people and policies of the UAW," Humphrey ended his appearance in the same hall where he won the vice presidential nomination four years ago with: "I ask your help."

Echo 1 Nears End Of Seven-Year Orbit

ROLLA — You'd better look fast if you want a good-bye glimpse of Echo I, the most visible and one of the most durable of the satellites.

Dr. J. H. Senne of the University of Missouri - Rolla faculty warns Missouri satellite watchers that the current series of evening passes is almost surely Echo I's farewell tour. About the middle of May, Echo I will move too far west for evening viewing in this area. If it is still up, it will again be visible during the early morning hours starting about May 25. However, the UMR professor predicts that it is almost certain to fall to a fiery death before June 16, when it would normally again become visible during evening hours.

Dr. Senne, chairman of the department of civil engineering at UMR, is a well-known engineer - astronomer. His weekly viewing schedules for Echo I, Echo II and Pageos satellites are printed in a number of papers in Missouri and surrounding states.

The man-made star is now zooming around the earth in a record 100 minutes. In fact, the orbit time of the satellite has accelerated to such an extent that it is hard for Dr. Senne to make predictions ahead. Even taking into consideration the expected acceleration, Professor Senne finds that within a few days Echo I is about 30 minutes ahead of his predicted schedules made a week in advance. Its average height is now about 460 miles, with the low point or perigee at 380 miles. When the perigee reaches 350 miles, Echo I cannot possibly recover its orbit and will burn up in the earth's denser atmosphere, Senne said.

Dr. Senne first warned of Echo I's expected early demise in January, predicting that it would have about a 50-50 chance of surviving intense solar activity at that time. However he felt that if it managed to stay aloft, it might possibly continue until it reached the next low orbital point at the end of this year. Although the satellite survived the buffeting of the solar winds, it never regained its original orbit and has been gradually sinking lower and lower since that time.

An aluminum-coated plastic balloon, Echo I was launched in 1960 as a passive communication or reflecting satellite. The 100-foot balloon has now shrunk to less than 70 feet, but has outlived by over seven years its expected life of one month.

Reds to Enter President State

NEW YORK (AP) — The Communist party of the United States announced Tuesday that it would enter candidates for president and vice president this November for the first time since 1940.

Henry Winston national surrender in due time," said party chairman, said the party's candidates would be selected at a special convention during the July 4 weekend.

Winston said the party would seek ballot status wherever possible and would try to get write-in votes in those states where it could not get on the ballot.

Indictments May Link Pair To Murder Case

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A grand jury issued sealed indictments Tuesday reportedly in the brutal murders of two former California secretaries who police wanted to question about a transcontinental securities conspiracy case.

A statewide pickup order went out for Jack "Murf" the Surf" Murphy, a beachboy-turned-jewel thief, and Jack Griffith, a karate expert. The order said first degree murder warrants had been issued in Broward County for the men. "I'm sure both will

Miami attorney David Russell, who said he represented Griffith. "There's no place to run."

The slain young women were Terry Rae Kent Frank, 23, and Annalie Marie Mohn, 21. Mrs. Frank was from Amberley, Ohio, a Cincinnati suburb, and Miss Mohn was a German national.

Their bodies, weighted with concrete, were found in Whiskey Creek near Hollywood Dec. 8.

Later, an audit at the Los Angeles brokerage house of Ruttner, Jackson and Gray revealed $488,732 in securities were missing. Los Angeles police said the thefts were discovered after Mrs. Frank, a divorcee, and Miss Mohn quit the firm and moved to Miami Beach.

Six men were indicted in New York on securities conspiracy charges. Police said that when the women left the firm the thefts stopped. But they were killed before they could be questioned.

Murphy, 30, served a jail sentence for the daring theft of the Star of India sapphire and the DeLong ruby from the Museum of Natural History in New York City.

When the pickup order was issued, Murphy was free under $20,000 bond on charges growing out of an attempted holdup of the home of a wealthy Miami Beach widow.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

The Sikeston Schools of the Educational Consulting continually place emphasis on Firm of Englehardt, Englehardt scholarship. Each student is encouraged to work and achieve up to his capacity. Students have many different talents. During the school term, students are recognized for their many achievements, such as athletics, music, art, speech, vocational projects, etc., but often students fail to receive the recognition which they deserve for their outstanding academic achievement.

Tuesday evening, May 7th, the top ten per cent of the students and their parents were honored at a banquet at the Senior High School. Dr. Paul Mawhinney, Professor of Education from Southeast Missouri State College, gave an outstanding address to all students enrolled in our schools.

At this time, it appears that the new Southeast Elementary School, located on Ables Road, will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the next school year. When new elementary buildings are relocated, it always students are invited to be guests in honor of their sons and daughters for their achievement. Representative Tony Heckemeyer will be the speaker for this honored occasion.

The top ten per cent of each grade in each elementary school are presented achievement awards at assemblies on the final day of school.

The Sikeston Public Schools congratulate these students and their parents for their past performance.

The physical education program at the Sikeston Middle School and the Sikeston Senior High School was evaluated by the State Department of Education last week. Dr. Robert Taylor of the State Department of Education was chairman of a committee composed of: Dr. Ralph Stewart, University of Missouri; Rosina Koetting, Southeast Missouri State College; Kenneth Tillman, Southeast Missouri State College; William Lee, Dexter Public Schools and Bob Goodwin, Jackson Public Schools. This committee spent two days in our school system working with teachers in this department. A report is now being written by Dr. Taylor that will be presented to the teaching staff, administration and the Board of Education in the near future. With the aid of this committee, the physical education teachers hope to make improvements in their departments to better meet the health and physical needs of the students in these two schools.

UAW Dues Dispute Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers union, currently renewing threats to quit the 14-million-member AFL-CIO, faces the possibility of being kicked out next week for nonpayment of dues.

The Auto Workers, issuing new attacks on AFL-CIO President George Meany's leadership from its convention in Atlantic City, will be three months and about $250,000 behind in dues May 15 and face automatic expulsion, informed sources said.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council, meeting next week, may take up the matter and some sources predict a majority of its members may be angered enough to oust Reuther's union if it doesn't pay up.

Sources say AFL-CIO leaders are miffed at Reuther's announcement the Auto Workers may put its per capita AFL-CIO dues in escrow pending settlement of its demands for internal reform of the federation.

The Auto Workers, largest of the AFL-CIO's 128 unions, pays about $1 million a year into its treasury.

This is the second time in its long feud with the AFL-CIO that the Auto Workers has withheld dues almost up to the suspension deadline.

Meany previously ignored most of Reuther's actions. But there are new elements in the deepening split between the two men who founded the AFL-CIO 13 years ago by merging Meany's American Federation of Labor with the Reuther-led Congress of Industrial Organizations.

They are also now moving apart on presidential politics and the impending Poor People's Campaign in the nation's capital.

Meany, 73, is throwing the AFL-CIO's support behind Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. The 60-year-old Reuther, reelected Tuesday to a 12th term as UAW president, is officially keeping the Auto Workers neutral in the fight for the Democratic presidential nomination. But he is reliably reported leaning toward Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York.

Reuther has endorsed the Poor Peoples' Campaign. Meany, while taking no official position, is reportedly cool to the idea of thousands of marchers besieging government buildings in Washington.

In his latest slap at Meany's leadership, Reuther charged at the Auto Workers convention that the AFL-CIO is "ruled by the dead hand of the past."

Replied Meany: "The American trade union movement today is in the best condition in its entire history."

Meany cites a 14 per cent growth of membership in AFL-CIO unions the past three years, record-high wages and a powerful voice in national politics and legislation as proof of labor's growing strength.

Reuther says the growth doesn't match the rise in employment—and that millions of white-collar workers, farm laborers and others aren't being organized into unions fast enough.

Navy Officer Claims Ship Had Mutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter, stripped of a ship's command after junior officers' complaints, has told a special congressional committee there was mutiny on the vessel.

Arnheiter, a 42-year-old career Navy officer, was relieved as captain of the destroyer escort Vance in 1966 after the Navy ruled he showed "a serious lack of judgment" and "knowingly and deliberately committed many derelictions."

Capt. Richard G. Alexander, 45, who lost command of the battleship USS New Jersey after interceding with Defense Department authorities on Arnheiter's behalf, is to testify today.

Appearing Tuesday before a committee called together by Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., who vows to get the "before Congress or to the White House if needs be," Arnheiter said that when he assumed command of the Vance, "complete bedlam" existed.

He contended morale was low, the vessel was rusty and infested with cockroaches—and I began to wonder what I had inherited."

He testified throughout the first day of the scheduled three-day hearing, saying he wanted his "day in court under proper naval proceedings" and that that had been denied him. His wife sat two rows behind him in the crowded committee room.

There are no official Navy witnesses at the hearing, Resnick said the Navy has refused to cooperate or participate in the inquiry.

Arnheiter, a decorated Naval Academy graduate with seven years of sea duty aboard destroyers, said his intention aboard the Vance was to "take a lax ship and make it into a fighting ship." Denying any improper conduct, he said, "My major intent was ... to take this ship into a war zone with a shipshape crew who would be proud of the ship and of whom the U.S. Navy could be proud."

Arnheiter said he met resistance in his efforts. "Did you feel there was actual mutiny aboard the Vance?" attorney Marvin Lewis asked Arnheiter.

"Yes," Arnheiter replied, puffing on a cigar. He said he filed charges alleging mutiny over the objections of the commander of the Pacific destroyer force.

Arnheiter now is shore-based near San Francisco and Alexander has a desk job in Boston.

Write-in Appeal to Be Tested

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska's presidential primary Tuesday could give New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey a clearer idea of their appeal in the farm belt.

Neither entered the presidential race in time to be listed on the ballot, but both have backers working to get impressive write-in totals.

Nebraska voters long have used freely their prerogative of writing in candidates in their presidential primary. Crossover voting from one party to another, a factor in the Indiana primary, is not permitted in Nebraska.

Listed on the Democratic ballot are Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, winner of the Indiana primary; Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and President Johnson.

An Associated Press survey of delegate sentiment taken after President Johnson announced he would not run showed Humphrey stands to pick up at least as many delegates as Kennedy from the scramble. McCarthy, however, has more delegate candidates pledged or leaning toward him than either rivals.

Most Republican observers predict an easy victory for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who out-pollled the late President John F. Kennedy in this state by 148,000 votes in 1960.

There is organized support for Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. Neither is on the ballot and neither has campaigned in this state. Nixon predicted this week that his vote will equal that of Rockefeller and Reagan combined.

On the GOP ballot with Nixon are former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen, who won the Nebraska primary 20 years ago, and Americus Liberator, an ex-cowboy from Valentine, Neb. Neither is regarded as a serious threat.

The presidential preference primary in this state is little more than a popularity contest—since delegates to the two national conventions are voted on separately.

Under Nebraska law, candidates for delegates may run as committed to a particular candidate or as uncommitted.

Kennedy Organization Proves Formidable

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The Kennedy men, money and mystique were simply too much for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Gov. Roger D. Branigin in the Indiana Democratic presidential primary Tuesday.

While he didn't get a majority, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy emerged as the winner of the three-man joust with 42 per cent of the vote.

But McCarthy remained politically alive in defeat to fight another day and perhaps on more favorable ground, although his New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries victories were dimmed by his third-place finish. He got 27 per cent of the vote.

For Branigin, an uncommitted favorite son who ran second, there was the consolation that he might yet save some of the state's 63 convention nominating votes. If he did, it was presumed that they eventually might find their way into the roll call column of vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Branigin got 31 per cent of the total Democratic vote and won in two congressional districts. McCarthy's percentage was 27. He led in no congressional districts.

It was something of a juggernaut that Kennedy mounted in Indiana. He saturated the state with advance men, organizers and follow-up operatives. He spent money liberally to transport himself, his retinue, his relatives and his big name friends to all corners of the state. He overwhelmed his opponents with television time.

Against this McCarthy's largely volunteer organization, which had worked so well in previous primaries, couldn't muster crowds or stir up interest to rival that of the Kennedy road show. Branigin didn't even

Grammy Show Good TV Fare

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual Grammy Awards show is usually a forthright no-nonsense program that comes along months after the awards have been passed out. It can, therefore, skip all the build-up and envelope-opening and present a taut summary of the season's top recordings.

The NBC special Wednesday night was no exception, although it was more sleek, more colorful and more sophisticated than in past years. It concentrated for the most part on music and musicians.

The hour show opened with the Fifth Dimension singing their hit, "Up, Up and Away," voted best record by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences. The tune, which certainly is catchy, has had its effect considerably watered down since it has been adopted as the musical signature of an airline—although every time the number is played, it is like a built-in plug.

Bobbie Gentry and Glen Campbell, both multiple winners, came along with their hit numbers. John Hartford sang "Gentle on My Mind" which he wrote. Lou Rawls was engaged with his "Dead End Street." Cannonball Adderley and his quintet had a quietly effective instrumental number.

From a visual standpoint, one of the most effective numbers was built around Campbell's singing of "By the Time I Get to Phoenix." It involved some trick photography and had the performer literally playing two roles on the same screen. However, the tricky photography got a little out of hand in one Bobbie Gentry number that showed the singer's whole figure as she sat playing her guitar and at the same time a huge closeup of her face filled in the background it was unusual, but distracting.

One of the most delightful moments came with a medley with Jack Jones, Miss Gentry and Campbell singing winning Grammy songs of the past 10 years. Many of them were memorable tunes, now standards.

Bill Dana spent most of last summer traveling 15,000 miles around the nation filming "Discover America with Joe Jimenez" which will be an NBC special on Friday, May 17. Most of the program was shot in interesting but off-beat places.

One day he ran into an acquaintance, a small-time nightclub entertainer, who asked Dana where he was working. Dana told him about a Pennsylvania Dutch folk festival, a Hannibal, Missouri fence painting contest, a Gloucester, Mass., fisherman's fiesta and Indian rain dances in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

The man's face became more and more sympathetic: "Who the hell is booking you these days?" he asked.

Chaffee Annexation Ruled Out by Judge

CHAFFEE -- Circuit Judge Marshall Craig has denied the city of Chaffee's suit for a declaratory judgment in the annexation of about 700 acres of land adjacent to the city limits.

The land the city sought to annex is owned by Ruben Meyer and the Vandivort Brothers north of town and Raymond Dame and Cornelius LeGrand south of the city.

John P. Bradshaw, Chaffee city attorney, handled the case for the city.

Judge Craig heard oral summations by attorneys for both sides April 19.

The case was tried early this past February with several Chaffee residents testifying both for and against the proposed annexation.

The city had the burden of proof in the case and the judge was bound to decide if the evidence the city presented warranted calling an election to annex the ground sought.

Mayor R. H. Capshaw stated that the city will change the boundaries for proposed annexation and file a new suit in the circuit court.

Referring to about 135 public housing units now being proposed by a newly formed Chaffee public housing authority, the new hospital, and other building the city needs the Mayor said, "more land is badly needed by the city and is imperative to the progressive steps taken in Chaffee."

Mayor Capshaw appointed Councilmen Ron Whitaker, Bill Pfefferkorn and Bob Kiehlhoffer to check into the matter and recommend a new annexation procedure to the council. The Mayor added, "This city is built flush with the city limits and there is no room to expand without annexation. If the court would have visited the town and looked at our problem first hand there would have been no other decision possible than to grant the request for annexation."

The Mayor and city council indicated at last Thursday's meeting that they would not appeal the case to a higher court because of the time required to gain a position on the crowded dockets.

Suit Tests N.Y. Sale of Private Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — A computer-era privacy battle looms in the Supreme Court over New York State's sale of auto registration data to the highest commercial bidder.

Author Corliss Lamont, a wealthy New Yorker, wants the practice stopped and the state law that authorizes it declared an unconstitutional invasion of privacy.

Computers have become so efficient and so sophisticated, he said recently in an appeal, "a terrifying array of personal information" becomes available at the push of a button.

If sale of auto registration data is permitted, he said, other public records could readily find their way to private hands.

New Yorkers, like car owners everywhere, have to supply the state with certain information when registering a vehicle: name, address, date of birth, sex and the like.

The state then reproduces the registration applications on 35 mm microfilm rolls and sells them, with lists of car owners, to the highest "responsible" bidder.

The information, Lamont said, is then used for unsolicited mail and telephone pitches, especially in the auto trade.

New York sold the list for $36,000 this year to R. L. Polk & Co., a Delaware corporation.

Federal Judge Marvin E. Frankel of New York City dismissed Lamont's suit last June. He said the information sold is not vital or intimate.

Polk, the company that seems to deal with most of the states, says the only exceptions are Alaska, Illinois, Kentucky, South Dakota, Washington and the District of Columbia.

The U.S. Circuit Court in New York City affirmed Frankel's ruling last December. Last Tuesday, New York IBC sells bread products

McNamara Wall Reports Skimpy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon declines to say whether the so-called "McNamara Wall" obstacle system is limiting infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam.

And the Defense Department — while acknowledging the barrier never underwent usual cost-effectiveness studies — won't say why.

The absence of cost-effectiveness studies along lines demanded by former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, under whose auspices the barrier system was created, emerges from congressional testimony.

It comes at a time when reported heavy North Vietnamese infiltration has from Sen. Stuart Symington, raised questions about the barrier's effectiveness.

The Pentagon has come as part of a study acknowledged that infiltration conducted by the Institute for continues directly through the Defense Analysis, a private Demilitarized Zone, where the "think tank."

The barrier system is located, as well. The Pentagon provided as around the DMZ's western Symington a breac own of actual border with Laos. Electronic and projected system costs but features of the obstacle system sensors deleted this data from a transcript released later. The scope of the spending, however, was indicated in several Symington remarks about the billion-dollar "Magnet Line concept."

The Pentagon declined to provide the cost figures, saying this might tip off the enemy to the scale of the effort.

McNamara would state publicly only that the system would include equipment ranging from barbed wire to "highly sophisticated devices."

These devices, one officer says, include air-dropped seismic units which send off signals whenever enemy troops or vehicles enter the area. Electronics planes receive the signals and dispatch bombers to meet the invaders.

The system also includes several manned strongpoints below the DMZ, along with cleared areas and minefields.

M16 Rifle Case to Be Reopened

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House Armed Services subcommittee that investigated the M16 rifle a year ago will reconvene to examine what its chairman calls "unrealistically high" prices in two new procurement contracts.

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., said Wednesday his subcommittee also plans to ask the firm why it rejected the bid of an arms manufacturer whose price was $20 million below that of one successful bidder, General Motors.

"I believe the public is entitled to a full explanation of the matter and we intend to examine the whole matter in detail," Ichord said.

The subcommittee, which charged in its report last October that the M16 program had been "grossly mismanaged," will reopen hearings next Tuesday.

The latest M16 furor erupted after Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., told the Senate that Maremont Co., of Saco, Maine — sole supplier of the Army's M60 machine gun — failed to get one of two contracts awarded despite its offer to supply 240,000 rifles for a ceiling price of $36 million.

Instead two-year contracts for production of 240,000 rifles each were awarded to Harrington & Richardson of

C. D. ALCORN takes down messages received over the noon hour, on his new Record-O-Fone, at his office on South Main street.

Phone Message Recorder Extends Business Hours

Business can go on as usual if the business establishment is equipped with a communication system.

Sikeston area businessmen have installed a new system, which keeps them in contact with their businesses, regardless of where they are or the time.

The new instrument is called a Record-o-Fone, measuring almost two feet long, six inches high and eight inches high.

C. D. Alcorn, one of the owners, says:

"The small electronic box has many advantages. Last Saturday for instance, my son wanted me to take him fishing. I turned the machine on, went fishing for several hours, and when I came back, I wrote the messages down on a sheet of paper. One of the messages was from an out-of-town visitor. I followed up and a sale resulted from the message."

The machine contains a small tape for up to 16 minutes of messages. The tape can be erased and is ready for another group of messages.

"It works in many ways," Alcorn commented.

"Here is a message from my mother saying she had baked a chocolate cake and for me to come by and pick it up," he said.

Alcorn also has a key that can be carried to wherever he goes. If, for instance, he is in a distant city anywhere in the United States, he can dial his home or office, move the key up to the telephone mouthpiece, and press a button, it will turn on the recorder, and play back the messages. When finished the tape will erase and he is ready for other messages.

As many as 24 to 64 messages can be taken down by the recorder. There are 38 such units in Southeast Missouri.

Pope Plans to Visit Colombia

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced today he will make a two- or three-day visit to Colombia in August to attend the 38th International Eucharistic Congress in Bogota and to open a Latin-American bishops conference in Medellin.

It will be the longest trip in the 70-year-old pontiff's reign and the first by a pope to Latin America.

He made no mention of visiting other Latin American countries that have invited him but there was a possibility of airport stopovers.

His announcement to a crowd of pilgrims at his weekly general audience in St. Peter's Basilica brought cheers.

The trip will be Pope Paul's sixth journey abroad since he became head of the Roman Catholic Church in June 1963.

He previously visited the Holy Land, the United Nations in New York, India, Portugal and Turkey.

Bermuda is the oldest self-governing colony in the British Commonwealth.

A good defensive measure to follow when you are blinded by oncoming headlights is to slow down and NEVER look at the glaring lights. Look to the right edge of the road and keep as far to the right as possible. Don't flash your bright lights at the approaching driver.

MISSOURI STATE HIGHWAY PATROL

Pearly Gates

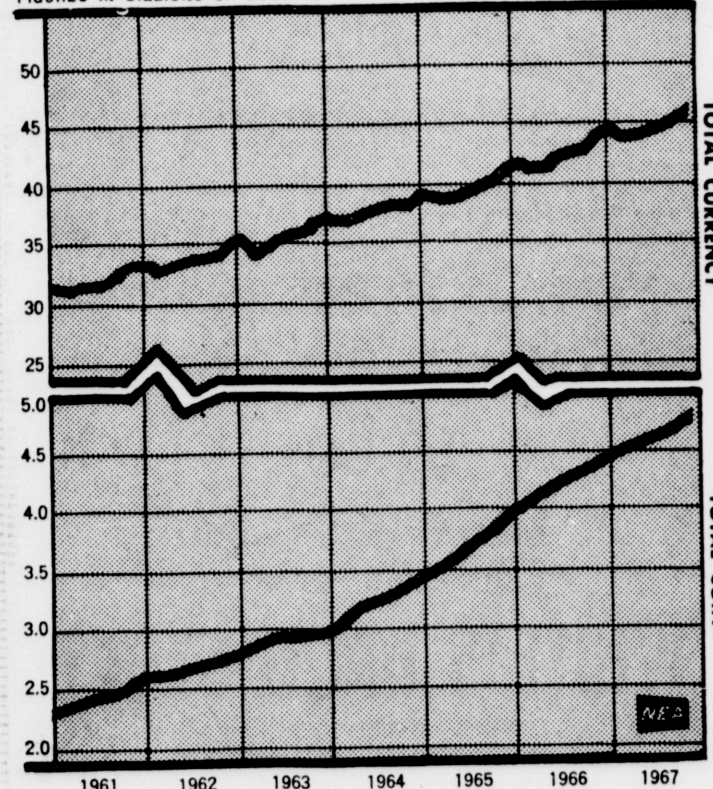

A morning glory of shining white which will bloom all summer long can grace your garden.

The imaginative name in the title above is that of a morning glory. As you can guess, its flower color is shining white. Morning glories give so much for so little. They bloom from July until frost and are easily grown from seeds planted in full sun. A spot protected from high winds is ideal and rich soil is to be avoided so vines do not produce excessive foliage. Vines grow 8 feet and more high, provide shade as well as flowers.

U.S. CURRENCY AND COIN IN CIRCULATION

FIGURES IN BILLIONS OF DOLLARS

During fiscal 1967 and the first six months of 1968, U.S. coin production was limited to composite or clad-type coins. The growth in total number of coins produced in the 18-month period slackened substantially—an indication that the shortage had been alleviated. The smooth change-over from silver to clad coins has proved the value of money is not determined by gold or silver, but rather if money can adequately perform the economic functions for which it is designed.

Last Sunday afternoon the Sikeston Natatorium opened for the summer season. With the improvements that have been made recently this will doubtless be the source of many pleasures for the people of this and surrounding communities. The coolness of the weather made it possible for a large crowd to venture out last Sunday, but as it grows warmer the crowds will grow larger.

An early morning blaze believed originating from defective wiring swept through the Cut Rate Department Store on North New Madrid Sunday and caused several thousand dollars damage.

Low bidder for the construction of the rural electric line, to serve the Scott-New Madrid — Mississippi County Co-operative Association, was the Stuart C. Irby Co., of Jackson, Miss., which bid $130,103.87 on a line of approximately 176 miles long to be constructed of erosested yellow pine poles and cooper transmission wire.

Ann Landers

Husband Immature and Inconsiderate

Dear Ann Landers: Last week I slipped in the shower and broke my shoulder. It was 10:00 p.m. and my husband, Roy, was playing poker at the Elks Club. When I telephoned him he said, "Gee, that's a shame. Take a taxi to the hospital. I am $60 ahead now and I'd better stay in the game and make the hospital bill." He suggested I call my mother if I wanted "company."

Last summer when my brother cut his hand on a beer bottle, Roy fainted. I had to bind up my brother's hand and drive him to the doctor's office. When our children came down very sick but they weren't very sick but they looked a mess. Roy suddenly remembered a fishing date and left town. He didn't take me to the hospital when the children were born. With our first boy, he had what the doctor called a sympathetic labor pains and was in worse shape than I was. When the second boy was born, he was out of town — 60 miles away — with car trouble.

There must be a reason for this. What is it? — WIFE OF A

LITTLE BOY
Dear Wife: Your answer appears in your signature. Roy is too immature to face mine. The girls agreed unanimously that, almost without exception, the secretary who has trouble keeping her boss in line has asked for it. Also, no secretary gets paid more than one unless she enjoys it. Another point brought out by my secretaries was that every city has a few executives who are part-time sex maniacs and no decent girl would work for them. Good jobs are easier to find these days than good secretaries.

Dear Ann Landers: I know you don't believe in Lonely Hearts Clubs and neither do I, but you could do a lot of good in this world, Ann, if you would match up some of the fine people who yearn for companionship. You could insist that the applicants send references from a clergyman, a physician and a bank. You might even do personal interviewing in your home to make sure these people

If You Were the Judge

Unlawful Use Must Proved to Cut Phone

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.
Margie had more male callers than the local draft board. Informed of this fact by the authorities and told that Margie was using her telephone for illicit purposes, the telephone company promptly advised Margie that it was going to terminate her telephone service.

Highly insulted, Margie flew off to court where she demanded an order restraining the telephone company from cutting her off. "Any reports of bad conduct on my part," she told the Judge, "are absolutely false. The fact is, I'm as proper as Little Orphan Annie. The trouble is that I'm just as popular. To take away my telephone would be an injustice."

"That's what she says," answered the telephone company. "But from our reports, if the good die young, she'll be around a long time. It's our duty not to provide telephone service for illegal purposes."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit the telephone to cut off popular Margie? This is how the Judge ruled: NO! The Judge held that a person's right to have telephone service is protected by the 5th Amendment of the U. S. Constitution. To deprive a person of such service, concluded the Judge, the burden is upon the telephone company to prove that the service is being used unlawfully. And, in this case, the telephone company proved no such charge against Margie. (Based upon a 1963 U. S. District Court Decision)

Seventh F111 Crashes on Training Run

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A seventh F111A fighter-bomber, the $5-million swing-wing jet developed from the controversial TFX program, has crashed.

Both pilots parachuted safely as the camouflaged plane carrying secret combat gear ploughed into the desert Wednesday and was demolished. The Air Force described the flight as a routine training mission and released no details of the crash 60 miles north of Las Vegas.

The plane was similar to three lost recently in Vietnam. It was the eighth plane lost of two types developed from the TFX, the tactical fighter experimental program pushed by Robert S. McNamara when he was secretary of the defense. McNamara said he aimed at incorporating a common basic design for both the Air Force and Navy.

In 1967 a Navy version of the plane, designated F111B, crashed during a test program at Long Island, N.Y., killing two civilian test pilots.

Three F111A Air Force versions, carrying top secret bombing and navigational equipment on Vietnam combat missions out of Takhli, Thailand, were lost shortly after the first arrived in Southeast Asia last March.

Although six planes were assigned to Takhli, operational testing of the fighter-bomber has not been completed at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., to develop tactics and doctrines for combat operation.

Neither the wreckage nor the crew was found of the first F111A to crash in Southeast Asia, within three days after going into combat.

The second crashed several days later in Thailand, and its crew was rescued. This crash was attributed to a capsule of sealing material lodged in the flight controls and combat missions were resumed after the F111s were grounded briefly.

Within three weeks, the third F111A was lost. North Vietnam claimed to have shot it down.

Three Tax Measures

Hiked in New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State Legislature decided early today to raise taxes on incomes, gasoline and cigarettes, thus giving Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller a substantial victory in his revenue demands.

The Republican governor, who is seeking the GOP presidential nomination, had requested more in taxes to balance his budget of more than $5 billion. Faced with a rebuff tactic by the politically divided legislature in its election year, he threatened to veto other budget-balancing devices.

The compromise provides for increasing taxes on income of $17,000 or more, raising the cigarette tax by two cents, to 12 cents a package, and the gasoline tax by a penny, to 7 cents a gallon.

A single coast redwood tree (Sequoia sempervirens) yields enough lumber to build and furnish three large homes, the National Geographic says.

Driver Critical After Hitting Tree

James C. Bennett, 20, St. Louis, is in critical condition today in Missouri Delta Community hospital, following a one-car accident at 12:58 a.m. at School and Dorothy streets.

The car Bennett was driving struck a tree, police reported. Bennett is believed to have internal injuries and a possible skull fracture. He was still in the recovery room at 1 p.m. today.

Seven charges were filed on an East Prairie man arrested by Sikeston police at 3:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Gabriel Tyrone Weatherspoon, East Prairie, was charged with running three stop signs, exceeding the speed limit, driving on the wrong side of the street. State charges of driving without an operator's license and writing bad checks also were filed. He was transferred to Scott county authorities.

Police officer Thurman Burns noticed the car Weatherspoon was driving turned at a high rate of speed from Kingshighway on to Murray Lane. He then, chased Weatherspoon and observed him driving on the wrong side of Murray Lane and driving at a high rate of speed.

Weatherspoon ran stop signs at School and Gladys, at Gladys and Scott and at Murray Lane.

Meramec Basin Plan Defended

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Gamble, executive vice president of the Meramec Basin Association, defended a $1 million budget request for land acquisition in testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee hearing Tuesday.

Gamble said the project would provide flood and water pollution control, recreation, fish and wildlife benefits for about one-tenth of Missouri.

Opponents of the plan charged last week that the funds would be used for a "private land grab" and to promote resorts rather than recreation.

Glynn C. Rice, president of the Meramec Valley Land Protective Association, asked a congressional investigation of the "motivation" of backers of the project. He charged that 92 percent of the land adjoining the proposed project belonged to St. Louis syndicates or members and companies related to the MBA.

Gamble's association introduced two statements into the subcommittee record Tuesday to answer these

Blind Student to Effort to Assist Visually Handicapped Save Miners Continues

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP) — Nobody could dispute that Thomas L. Danler is the perfect choice of a person to help visually handicapped students this summer at a state home for the mentally retarded in Dixon, Ill.

Danler, a junior majoring in English here at St. Benedict's College, is blind himself. But it doesn't slow him down a bit.

The student, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Danler of Kman, Kan., keeps up a full schedule of extracurricular activities in addition to maintaining a 2.80 grade average on a 4.0 scale.

He works with juvenile delinquents, won a campus talent show by playing the saxophone, assists the college's athletic trainer, plays soccer and basketball, and takes part in gym class relay events and weight lifting.

"The students are beginning to see me as an individual — Thomas Danler — and not just as Mr. Blind Man," the youth explained. "I want to prove I am a particular person, an individual with a personality and understanding."

Although he can't see where he's going, Danler has learned the campus so well he often runs from place to place.

Surviving Two Heart Patients Making Progress

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — One heart transplant patient in St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital has died. Doctors expressed satisfaction today with the progress of two others.

James Cobb, 48, of Alexandria, La., salesman, died Wednesday after receiving the heart of a 15-year-old boy Sunday night.

Everett Claire Thomas, 47, of Phoenix, Ariz., who received a new heart last Friday, was able to walk in a private room to which he was moved Wednesday. He has a telephone and television in the room that was specially arranged for him.

John Stuckwish, 62, of Alpine, Tex., who Tuesday became the hospital's third heart transplant patient in less than five days, was described as "a little lethargic" but able to respond to commands.

Dr. Denton A. Cooley, who heads the surgical team, indicated Cobb died of infection that resulted from reaction to drugs necessary to prevent tissue rejection.

The mine passageway is only 36 inches high for most of its two-mile reach into the mountain. Two men are a half-mile farther in than the 13. Another half mile deeper are 10 others, presumed dead.

Ambulances arriving late Wednesday night set off the first wave of anticipation. But H. E. Sundstrom, overnight supervisor of rescue operations said of an imminent rescue, "It definitely is not so. Whoever called for those ambulances didn't do so on my orders."

The rescuers encountered difficulty in trying to put an 800-gallon-a-minute pump into operation where the water was deepest. They hit bedrock with their drills 200 feet from the shaft. Ten other pumps were continuing to take out water at the rate of 3,200 gallons a minute.

Red Siege Fails on 2 Sides

SAIGON (AP) - The enemy struck hard at Saigon from three sides today but a U. S. spokesman said American forces had smashed a Viet Cong drive to push into the capital from the south and east.

On the eve of Paris peace talks, however, the enemy drove closer to the center of Saigon than at any time since the new offensive was launched Sunday.

U. S. military spokesmen said 2,000 American infantrymen from the 9th Division, armored personnel carriers, helicopter gunships and dive bombers had broken up at least for the time being the drive from the south and east.

Helicopter gunships also wrecked two launching pads loaded with rockets less than a mile from the city.

A third enemy drive rolled up northwest of Saigon, sweeping aside two U. S. companies in the big push which officials believe is designed to bolster North Vietnam's hand at Paris.

The 9th Division infantrymen, known as the "Old Reliabilities," reported killing 131 enemy in a day-long battle that was still going on at nightfall.

"For the third consecutive day, the enemy was repulsed trying to enter Saigon from the south," an officer said. "More than 450 enemy have been killed in the last three days."

Ninth Division casualties were said to be seven killed in the latest fighting, with several more wounded.

The U. S. Command announced 250 enemy soldiers had been killed by allied forces in fighting around Saigon since the Communist command's new offensive began. Against this, U. S. casualties were put at 53 killed and 47 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were reported as 22 killed and 719 wounded.

The heavy fighting drove countless thousands of fearstricken civilians streaming across two bridges into the center of the city, and swelled the ranks of the homeless to more than 50,000. Some didn't make it as the toll of civilian dead and wounded mounted to more than 200.

President Nguyen Van Thieu went on nationwide television in efforts to calm the populace. He urged South Vietnam's people not to be misled by what he termed Communist propaganda and not to participate in nationwide demonstrations he said the Communists were planning. He warned that the national police were under orders to fire into crowds if Communist-directed demonstrations threatened government installations.

President Ho Chi Minh called on the Viet Cong to step up the fight against U. S. "aggression," said Radio Hanoi.

It was Saigon's worst day since Sunday, and new fears swept the city. Jets roared across the heart of the city, and moments later the thud of 500-pound bombs was heard.

They shook the downtown section.

Blocks of Saigon's southern and eastern sections were destroyed under the pounding of U. S. and South Vietnamese dive-bombers and helicopter gunships. Some houses were set afire by the Viet Cong to cover their movements.

The U. S. Command called in hundreds more infantrymen, tanks and helicopter gunships to meet the Viet Cong drive, which late Wednesday had appeared to be tapering off. There were reports, however, that the Viet Cong had brought up reinforcements through the night, covering their infiltration with diversionary shelling at other points.

Thieu Puts Price on Bomb Halt

SAIGON (AP) - President Nguyen Van Thieu declared today he will never agree to a complete halt in the bombing of North Vietnam without a halt of all infiltration into South Vietnam.

Speaking on the national television on the eve of the opening of preliminary peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam in Paris, the president took a hard line.

"I hope that we will not let the enemy profit by agreeing to a 100 per cent halt in the bombing in exchange for a false promise from the Communists that they will not infiltrate men and arms into South Vietnam, to help the National Liberation Front-NLF-to continue their fight and force us to talk with the NLF," Thieu said.

"When Hanoi realizes that the NLF is their tool created in South Vietnam to cheat the South Vietnamese people, and when Hanoi wants to have a guaranteed, long lasting peace... they must accept that the only one who can talk with them is the government of the Republic of Vietnam, a legal government elected by the people and with the full support of the people," he said.

U.S. Expects Hard Going As Hanoi Delegate Arrives

PARIS (AP) - North Vietnam's chief delegate to peace contacts with the United States arrived today, and his American counterpart was due tonight for talks starting Friday.

A crowd of 300, Vietnamese and Frenchmen, carrying flags and a banner, greeted Xuan Thuy, the Hanoi delegate, as his plane touched down after stops in Peking and Moscow.

Among the welcoming group at Le Bourget Airport were Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin and Communist Chinese Charge d'Affaires Su-Chih.

The Vietnamese and Frenchmen clapped and waved yellowstarred red flags of North Vietnam. Others held up a banner saying: "Welcome to the delegation of the Vietnamese Peoples Republic."

U. S. officials are predicting long, hard bargaining with the North Vietnamese as the American negotiators also headed for the French capital with a mandate from President Johnson to sound out Hanoi's representatives on peace prospects.

On departing Washington, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the chief U. S. negotiator, called on the North Vietnamese to match the Americans in "a spirit of hope, sincerity and good will" in searching for a peaceful solution to the Vietnam war.

Thuy, a smiling man in a gray suit and gray necktie, told reporters on arriving: "In the name of the government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, I must sincerely thank President de Gaulle and the French government who have repeatedly demanded an end to the bombing of North Vietnam, and the withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam."

Thuy said the United States had sent more than half a million troops and tens of thousands of "satellite troops to carry on its aggression in South Vietnam."

An atmosphere of hope in Washington was tempered by the recollection that it took two years of tough bargaining with the Communists to end the Korean war.

No one cared to predict how long the Paris talks would last. But the big question in American minds was whether the Communists really want a peace settlement or planned to use the talks only to press for a bombing halt and other advantages for their military campaign in South Vietnam.

W. Averell Harriman, President Johnson's envoy, and his chief aides were scheduled to arrive tonight from Washington.

Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator, came by way of Peking and Moscow.

The first meeting between Harriman and Thuy was scheduled Friday in the former Majestic Hotel near the Arc de Triomphe.

U. S. officials expressed interest in French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville's speculation that the U. S. and North Vietnamese negotiators might move on to broad talks on ending the war as well as the scheduled preliminary discussions on the question of halting U. S. bombing of the North.

American officials said they did not know whether Hanoi had asked the French government to convey this view of the talks to the West.

U. S. authorities have made plain that Harriman would seek a military restraint by North Vietnam in return for what Hanoi lists as its priority topic: "The unconditional cessation of the U. S. bombing raids and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam."

French diplomats in contact with North Vietnamese officials say Hanoi is confident that it will be able to attain its prime objective in the talks-the evacuation of U. S. troops from South Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese are reported to feel that the United States will eventually agree to a phased withdrawal under the cover of a political compromise in the South.

President Johnson said on the eve of Harriman's departure that the United States is pledged to honor its commitments in Asia "scrupulously."

Surtax Gains Assent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate-House conferees have agreed to President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge but tied it to a $6 billion spending cut he has said is against the national interest.

The conferees said Wednesday they had accepted these two key points which the Senate approved more than a month ago.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the conferees as well as of the House Ways and Means Committee, voiced hope the group could complete work on many other amendments to the bill at a final session today.

The income-tax increase is the 10 per cent surcharge proposal applying to both individuals and corporations which the administration has been pushing since last August.

It would yield $10 billion on a yearly basis. It would last 15 months for individuals, from April 1 this year to June 30, 1969, and 18 months for corporations, retroactive from Jan. 1 this year to mid-1969.

About 17 million low-income taxpayers would be exempt.

Taxpayers who would be exempt are individuals owing no more than $45 in taxes or couples owing no more than $20.

Withholding of the additional tax from individuals, if the bill is passed on the schedule its handlers are mapping, probably would begin in June.

Conferees said there is no intention of spelling out in the legislation's final form the exact places where the $6 billion spending cut for the year beginning July 1 will be applied. This would be left to the executive branch, which has indicated the cut would affect education, welfare, veterans medical, model cities and other programs.

The draft legislation would exempt from the cuts Vietnam expenditures, veterans pensions and compensation, interest on the public debt and Social Security.

The $6 billion spending reduction proposal has drawn heavy fire from Johnson and other administration officials.

The President told a news conference last Thursday that to go beyond a $4 billion cut in expenditures for the next year "would injure the national interest."

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a principal author of the package Senate amendment which included the tax boost and spending cut, said the conference action was "a fine victory."

Exempted from the spending cut would be funds for the Vietnam war, Social Security, veterans' payments and interest on the national debt.

It was understood the conferees also had agreed tentatively to Senate provisions for a rollback of about 150,000 in the number of federal employees and cuts of $10 billion in new appropriations for fiscal 1969.

They added to the measure a provision sought by the House delegation calling for cancellation of $8 billion in past, unspent appropriations.

The House did some slashing Wednesday when it passed and sent to the Senate a $13.67 billion appropriation bill for the Department of Housing and Urban Development and 20 independent agencies.

This was $2.89 billion less than the President had requested, boosting to about $4.5 billion the total cuts voted this year by the House in three bills. None has passed the Senate.

Charleston Policeman Suspended After Fracas

CHARLESTON - Frank Hudson Jr., a police patrolman since March 6, was suspended without pay for at least 10 days Tuesday following an incident in the Negro section Tuesday night.

Hudson was off duty and not wearing a uniform when the incident took place.

While driving out of Charleston, Hudson said he saw two Negro youths beating another Negro with clubs in front of Helen and Marshall Curries "Creo" Cafe" on Elm and Marshall street.

Hudson called police and had a patrol car sent to the area. Patrolman Richard Wallace, formerly with the Sikeston police department, and patrolman Ben Stampey, a Negro officer, arrived.

The fight stopped when the patrol car arrived, and Hudson pointed out two youths who were beating another youth. Wallace and Stampey placed the youths under arrest and began leading them to the patrol car.

The arrested men, both of whom were identified as Gary Betts, 19, and Walter Spence, 18, the youth who was being beaten was Purvis Lark, 29, also a Charleston Negro. He ran into the cafe when the police arrived.

A crowd of more than 100 formed in the street when the arrest was made. It was shouting for the Negroes not to go with him to the patrol car.

Both Wallace and Stampey used tear gas on the crowd to get to the patrol car.

As they were about to leave when the Rev. E. L. Betts got into the patrol car, but Hudson told him to "get out, it wasn't a taxi service."

The Rev. Mr. Betts is the father of Gary Betts.

Police Chief Dolph Webb said when the patrolmen brought Betts and Spence to the station, about 60 Negroes were already gathered and shouting Hudson's name.

"I threatened to turn the fire hoses on them and they dispersed," Webb said.

"Then, it wasn't too long before we had a call that they were regrouping near the Curries Cafe. Sheriff W. J. "Pedro" Simmons was called. He and the Rev. Mr. Betts went down to the cafe and dispersed the crowd," Webb continued.

No charges were filed against Betts or Spence. Both were released. Betts was treated by a doctor for the cut on his head inflicted by the pistol.

Purvis Lark, the youth who Hudson said was being beaten, did not press charges. He told police they were playing.

Spence and Betts also told police they had a disagreement with Lark and were playing, when Hudson arrived.

Ho Urges Viet Cong To Step Up Fight

TOKYO (AP) - North Vietnam's President Ho Chi Minh has called on the Viet Cong to step up their fight against U. S. "aggression" in South Vietnam, Radio Hanoi said today.

A Japanese-language official Voice of North Vietnam broadcast said Ho made the appeal in a letter addressed to Nguyen Huu Tho, chairman of the South Vietnam National Front for Liberation-NFL-a political organ of the Viet Cong.

The broadcast quoted Ho as saying the United States is speaking of peace talks on one hand but escalating the war in Vietnam on the other.

Hudson, 29, was a radio operator and flight engineer in the Air Force from August, 1957 until February, 1965. He then joined the navy and served in Vietnam from August, 1957 until February, 1965. He then joined the navy and served in Vietnam from August, 1957 until February, 1965.

He attended Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau from September, 1967, until February, before joining the police department in early March.

Chief Webb said Hudson was "a fair officer, but inexperienced."

He does have potential, he said.

Ehen asked if the suspension was his idea or the city manager's, Webb said "It was his idea or the city manager's, Webb said 'It was decided upon.'"

Butts said today he expects to have all information on the incident investigated by Monday and to make final disposition then.

Hudson will be told whether he will be kept on the police force or dismissed, Butts said.

Butts said that Hudson was in the wrong. Hudson was not in uniform, not on duty, and did not properly identify himself, he said.

Health Officials Report Rate Of Disease, Drug Use Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) - Government health officials have pictured the nation as beset with burgeoning problems of alcoholism, mental illness, venereal disease and drug use.

On top of that, the officials said, health-care costs are skyrocketing.

In testimony before a House subcommittee they reported: "There are up to 6.5 million alcoholics in the land and their numbers grows by 200,000 annually. A growing percentage are married, middle-aged women of the middle and upper classes."

"In a typical community of 150,000 population, where 3,000 children are born annually, one of five will require some form of mental health service and 240 will be patients in mental hospitals in their lifetime."

"Gonorrhea is out of control, with a 12 per cent increase in reported cases in each of the last few years. In some population groups one of three have this venereal disease and don't know it."

"All economic groups and all age groups are involved in taking the mind-expanding drug LSD, but its is falling off in colleges and high schools because of the publicity about its danger."

Car Insurance Rates Cut Two Per Cent

Boothel motorists, who carry automobile insurance with companies affiliated with the insurance rating board, will get a two per cent reduction in rates.

This reduction applies to Butler, Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscott, Scott and Stoddard counties.

The changes for private passenger cars, now in effect, amount to an overall reduction in the state of 5.6 per cent.

In Cape Girardeau county the reduction is nine per cent.

The reductions range upward from two per cent to 27 per cent in metropolitan St. Louis.

They do not affect existing policies except as they are renewed.

Despite the national rising trend in automobile crashes and hospital, medical and repair costs, Missouri statistics of IRB's member companies for recent years indicated reduced rates are in order. This change is in accord with the insurance practice of adjusting rates to follow claims experience.

The board pointed out that the reductions vary by territory within the state. Basing rates on the claim picture in individual territories enables the insurance companies, so far as possible, to reflect each area's deserved share of the state's insurance bill, the board said.

There are 14 rating territories in Missouri. Claims from insured accidents incurred only by cars garaged in a territory are counted in developing the loss picture for that territory. Thus, if a driver from territory A has an accident in territory B, the insurance result is charged to territory A.

Other factors also influence the amount an individual pays for his insurance. This accounts for the fact that people living in the same territory pay different premiums.

Such factors include: the type of coverage selected; age, sex, marital status and driving record of the motorist; the use to which the car is put; and the year, make and model of the automobile.

"Advice to emerging nations: Get back in there this very minute! It ain't safe out here."

SOCIALISM & PERSONAL ENTERPRISE ONE TAKES FREEDOM, THE OTHER GIVES IT

The difference between a free nation such as ours and a slave nation such as the Soviet Union can be stated:

In a free nation, the people accept the responsibility for their own welfare; in a slave nation that responsibility is turned over to a police state.

In a free nation the government gets its rights from the people. In a slave nation, the people get their rights, if any, from the state.

Under our personal enterprise system, the individual is free to make something of himself if he has the "enterprise" to do so.

The phrase "personal enterprise" sounds simple; in reality, it is not simple at all. Many people living under it today have only a vague idea what it is all about. The system, like freedom in any form, involves risk. Freedom and complete security are fundamentally incompatible. A cradle-to-the-grave welfare state may be possible, but not within a context of freedom.

Opposing increased governmental intervention are those who believe that the people's needs can be filled best in a free society. They believe that economic well-being can be achieved almost directly in proportion to the amount of freedom the people enjoy. In this group we find those who feel that if the people can be freed from government control, they will achieve their own prosperity.

But those who believe in the personal enterprise system also recognize that the burden of proof rests squarely on their shoulders. It is easy to say that our American system offers both economic security and freedom; to demonstrate it is more difficult. However, the personal enterprise system has received some boosting from unexpected sources. In 1962, a large metropolitan newspaper carried an editorial on a most significant admission from Moscow. The editorial stated:

"In a long article in Izvestia, O.K. Antonov, a Russian engineer, says that the trouble with Soviet industry is that it doesn't have any 'feedback'."

"The heart of the problem," he says, "is that Russian production statistics don't reflect any real increase in economically useful goods. Much of the production is of poor quality and not what is needed anyway." He cites examples of textile factories producing cloth that no one wants and paper mills producing cardboard that's not of the right thickness and weight.

"Under capitalism," he writes, "this doesn't happen because the producer gets a feedback from the customer, which is an engineer's way of saying that the customers protest by not buying." He explains that the capitalist manufacturer of poor-quality goods soon learns from the market place that his goods are not selling. This "forces the capitalists to make things better, sturdier and cheaper."

The editorial closed with: "We wonder what will happen to Mr. Antonov when all this capitalistic talk feeds back to the Kremlin."

The Russian engineer was right when he berated the inefficiency of the totalitarian state. Socialism ended competition; and once the state became the complete master of the Russian people, there was no need for the government to cater to their wants or desires. The consumers could only buy what the government wanted to sell them, or they could go without.

And of course, the shifty ways of Soviet style socialism can adopt any means to keep its tight grasp on its subjects. Khrushchev has spoken highly of the productive capacity of American agriculture and has taken steps to increase the output of the Soviet Union's fertilizer industry.

Khrushchev has explained Marxism's experimentations with free enterprise methods in words that clearly spell out socialism's failures:

They are being adopted because orthodox Marxism no longer is bringing in "good goulash" -- or, stripped of Khrushchevian metaphor -- a rapid rate of economic advance.

What other evidence do the liberal super-intellectuals need to be convinced that by denouncing personal enterprise they are digging their own graves?

Under the personal enterprise system, and limited government, Americans have freedom. It is therefore difficult to understand why so many intelligent people keep insisting that our country be socialized. The personal enterprise system, which has been miraculously successful here and is being proved in many parts of the world today, is being lampooned and lambasted by a large percentage of our own people. They insist that we scrap it in favor of a socialistic system which has nothing to recommend it but a record of abysmal failure, suffering and enslavement wherever it exists -- a system with far greater risks involved than those inherent in the personal enterprise system.

Socialism -- collectivism, communism, welfare statism, call it what you will -- is the enemy of mankind. If we do not curb its influence upon our lives, we shall reduce ourselves to the same state of suffering and misery existing in so much of the world today.

What then, must be done? Those who realize that the personal enterprise system is the way to meet the needs of the people have a definite responsibility. Theirs is the obligation to guard and maintain that system.

For example, a good deal of government regulation of our economic system moves in after indefensible business practices are exposed. The passage of the Pure Food and Drug Act in 1906 is one example. The philosophy of the personal enterprise system is not an "anything goes" philosophy. All who believe in our system have the responsibility of eliminating abuses before government moves in. The person who invests in taking a risk; but the person who buys a product or service should not have to take the risk of being cheated.

What other evidence do the liberal super-intellectuals need to be convinced that by denouncing personal enterprise they are digging their own graves?

Adherence to the highest ethical standards is not enough to preserve both our economic system and our freedom. The system itself must be made to operate with ever-increasing efficiency. The demands made on it are so great that inefficiency and waste can be tolerated no more than the unscrupulous. Those who support the system are usually loud and harsh in their condemnation of governmental waste and inefficiency. How then, can they turn a tolerant eye on the same practices in the private sector of our economy?

Another threat to our system is the businessman who welcomes government intervention -- when it happens to work to his advantage.

A positive step we all can take to maintain the personal enterprise system is to battle against "economic illiteracy." Ironically, those who believe strongly in our system must bear the responsibility for the appalling popular ignorance of its principles. The father who is dismayed by the attitude of his teen-age children toward personal enterprise should ask himself how much time he has spent explaining the economic facts of life to them.

We should all ask ourselves how much individual effort we have put forth to help keep the personal enterprise a vital reality. It is destructive of the system to say that we haven't the time; that we have all we can do to take care of our own businesses, our own professions, our own families.

If we are to preserve freedom, we must each accept the challenge and risks involved in the preservation of that way of life.

Since Adam and Eve days, wives have complained of procrastinating husbands when it comes to household chores.

In a recent discussion of the situation by a group of housewives, one reported this classic reply from her husband to her question as to when he was going to get around to doing what she had requested:

"I'm getting ready to get ready."

NEW YORK (AP) -- Bob Hope, who is only a short port from being 65, has already set a goal for his 100th birthday.

"I'd still like to be around then," he said, "and playing in a show on the moon."

That isn't just one of the blithe-spirited comedian's five million catalogued jokes. He has a good chance of making history as the first professional laughman to become a centenarian.

"My grandfather lived to be a month short of 100," he remarked, "and I have a couple of uncles who are about 90 and still hale."

Keeping physically fit has also been a lifelong part of his philosophy. He holds his weight around a trim 175 pounds by regular golf sessions, long walks, and daily stretching exercises.

Over a luncheon of scrambled eggs, apple pie and black coffee, Hope complained mildly that recent reports of his wealth had been greatly exaggerated.

"Lord, I got rich all of a sudden," he said. "One magazine hinted I was worth about half a billion dollars, and then Fortune Magazine lists me in the $150-to-$200-million bracket. Now I'm waiting for Reader's Digest to come out and tell me how much I really have."

"Then, I suppose, I'll have to get in touch with that lady astrologer in Washington and find out where it all is. Everybody thinks you've got it in your golf pants. It's murder!"

Bob paused reflectively. Then, referring again to the $150-to-$200-million estimate of his fortune, he said:

"If I could sell all the property I have at the value I place on it myself, it would come to about a third of that."

Hope, who rarely carries more than $50 in cash, owns a piece of the Cleveland Indians, an Ohio dairy, and has extensive interests, including a 5,000-acre property in Southern California where he plans to produce his own pictures.

But the restless actor thrives on activity. He recently completed his 57th film, "The Private Navy of Sgt. O'Farrell," in which he plays an Army topkicker who captures a Japanese submarine singlehanded. Next he'll team with Jackie Gleason in "How to Commit Marriage."

The chores of film making rest lightly on him.

"I'm geared to it, and I still enjoy performing," he said. "If I didn't, I'd quit. The only real labor is in having to get out of bed so early. After that, somebody just has to point you toward the studio."

Bob, who is as self-made as a man can be, came to Cleveland from his native England at the age of four. As a boy he sold newspapers and worked in a shoe store, a drug store and a meat market before starting a career in show business that has won him some 750 awards for his performing skill and philanthropic zeal.

School officials, driver education instructors, government officials, Highway Patrol safety officers and other interested groups will be working together at the annual spring meeting of the Missouri Driver and Safety Education Association, May 17-19, 1968, at Lake Ozark, Missouri.

Robert L. Marshall, Executive Secretary of the Association and Director of the new Safety Education Center at Central Missouri College in Warrensburg, says the meeting is one of the most important and will probably be the best attended since the Association was organized.

Mr. Clarence E. Gawer, President of the Association and recipient of the Award of Driver

Education Instructor of the Year, said, "The National Highway Safety Bureau of the Federal Highway Administration has promulgated standards for driver education which all of the states must reach. Missouri is actively working toward providing the requirements of the standards through cooperative studies and planning and through activities such as the spring meeting." Gawer is an instructor in the Owensville High School.

Missouri Highway Patrol safety officers from each of the Patrol's troop areas have been assigned to the meeting. Captain F. W. Shadwell of the Patrol's Division of Safety and Administration said the safety officers conduct adult driver improvement programs throughout the State and work closely with school driver education teachers in presenting parts of the traffic safety training.

Driver education is one of the major weapons in the overall attack on growing traffic problems. Missouri has an excellent driver education program. The federal standards will require a greatly expanded program available to every youth of driving age, and to adults as well in certified classes.

The new Safety Education Center at Central Missouri College in Warrensburg will be a boon to the State in helping to produce trained teachers for the expanded program.

SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED TO 4-H STUDENTS

Sam Hall Jr. and Kay Sloop, both of Iredell County in North Carolina, and four other 4-H members were selected as high-achievers in 4-H Club Health activities among the more than sixty state winners (some states select two).

Awarded $500 scholarships during the recent 4-H Club Congress were: Hall, of Statesville; Miss Sloop, Mount Hill; Linda Jo Conley, Nutter Fort, West Virginia; Tom Hartje, Oakland, Iowa; Gilbert Landry, Jr., Napoleonville, Louisiana; and Judy Strike, Cheyenne, Wyoming.

The youths received their awards from health program sponsor Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, at a banquet attended by fifty-two state winners from over the nation and from Puerto Rico. The Lilly company has sponsored the 4-H health program nationally for twelve years.

Speaker for the banquet was astronaut Captain James Lovell, who is President Johnson's consultant for physical fitness. Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: LBJ was about to resume bombing; Alice Longworth recalls King of Norway; Johnson deliberately got tough over taxes.

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson was just about ready to resume full air attacks on North Vietnam when the communists dramatically broke the impasse over a truce site.

He had received an urgent warning from the joint chiefs that the Viet Cong were planning another spectacular attack upon Saigon with the American Embassy again a prime target.

Details of the plan had been supplied by a high-ranking member of the new South Vietnamese government, known by the code name "Hanoi 8," who had given him a lie detector. His story was also confirmed by captured enemy documents.

The President concluded, in the North Vietnamese were stalling the truce talks until they could offload their offensive.

The purpose would be to strengthen their bargaining position as the negotiations began.

The Viet Cong always withheld the timetable from their battle plans until the last possible minute, so U.S. intelligence officers could only speculate when the attack might be attempted. The defector thought May 1, a red-letter day on the communist calendar, would be most likely. It was also speculated that the Viet Cong might choose May 19, the 78th birthday of Ho Chi Minh. Significantly, an attack began on the weekend before the Paris talks were scheduled to start.

As May 1 approached, President Johnson began to share the joint chiefs' qualms over the bombing curbs. His concern was compounded by intelligence reports that 70,000 North Vietnamese regulars had infiltrated into the South since the bombing pullback. Through Vietnam, Laos, which had become the relay point for preliminary messages, he sent word that he wouldn't hold back his bombers much longer while Hanoi quibbled over a truce site.

"CUTE LITTLE KING" When Alice Roosevelt Longworth paid her respects to King Olav of Norway recently, she recalled how her father, the late President Theodore Roosevelt, had taken her as a young girl to call on the Norwegian royal family.

"The King was only five years old at that time," Mrs. Longworth said. "He was such a cute little boy."

Mrs. Longworth, now over 80, this time found King Olav to be a very solid, square-shouldered monarch, weighing about 200 pounds. He was royally welcomed first by President Johnson, who hailed him as a "non-political man," then by Vice President Humphrey, whose mother was a Norwegian, and then by Chief Justice Warren, whose father was born in Norway.

"I shall be happy to have you in Minnesota," said Vice President Humphrey, "provided you do not run for public office."

LYNDON GETS TOUGH President Johnson had an off-the-record conference with Democratic congressional leaders before he let loose his tough "bite-the-bullet" attack on the ways and means committee.

Having served 30 years on Capitol Hill, LBJ knows that you don't rile congressmen except as a last resort.

But Johnson also has a very high regard for the presidency and has studied the battles which Harry Truman staged to preserve the rights of the executive. Before the Potsdam conference when Truman was urged to take senate advisers with him for the talks with Stalin and Churchill, he refused, pointing out that to negotiate foreign policy was the business of the President.

Again after the Korean war got started, Truman was urged to get senate approval of the war by a special resolution. He refused, pointing out that the United Nations had already ok'd the war.

The present impasse with Rep. Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas

chairman of the tax-writing ways and means committee, is viewed by President Johnson as a means of hamstringing the executive by refusal to increase taxes and thereby indirectly writing the federal budget.

At the off-the-record White House meeting, however, Johnson went a long way by reluctantly agreeing to a $4 billion cut in the 1969 budget, plus other cuts.

"YES OR NO?" -- LBJ- After unfolding the plan he looked around the room for reaction. There was none.

Finally, Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the Democratic house leader, broke the silence. Carl is short, mild-mannered, dedicated to honest government, and has supported the public good even when he knew it would hurt him politically as in open housing.

"I'll buy that," he said quietly.

"I'll go along," agreed speaker John McCormack of Boston.

"I think the proposition is perfectly fair," said George Mahon of Texas, after some hesitation.

But chairman Wilbur Mills, who had opposed a tax increase for nine long months, was silent. "What about you, Wilbur?" asked the President.

"Well, I'll consider it," replied the cautious Arkansan.

"That's not what I asked," challenged the President. "Are you for it or aren't you for it? Yes or no?"

"All right, I'll go along," said Mills.

But the next day in the ways and means committee Mills reneged. He said he would pass the ten per cent surtax increase only if the administration cut $6 billion from the 1969 budget instead of $4 billion. This is what got the President sore.

He knew that the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition was trying to cut education, anti-poverty and welfare. So he issued his "stand up like men and answer the roll call" blast at congress. It was a deliberately calculated blast and it got results. The ways and means committee voted out

IT'S EASY TO QUIT
It is easy to quit. Anyone can say, "The hill is too high," or "it's too far away."
Anyone can say, "I'm too tired to keep on."
And stop halfway there. But don't be that one.
Wherever life gives you a task hard to do,
Don't stop in the middle, but see the thing through.

It is easy to quit. Any fool can explain
To himself and his friends why the struggle was vain.
It doesn't take brains when you start cutting loose
From a difficult task to think up an excuse.

There is always a plausible, soul-soothing excuse
On the tongue of the chap who says "It's no use."

In the present-day era, when much of the "thinking" is done by leaders and intriguers, the old story of the Indian who was building a boat may be helpful.

The Indian was carving his canoe out of a huge log. A man came along and said, "Chief, I think she's too wide for her length." So the Indian narrowed her down. A little later, another man came along, who said, "Chief, it looks to me that the stern's too full." So he cut down the stern.

A third man came, watched the Indian chisel awhile, and, giving the canoe a close look, said, "The bow's too sheer, Chief." So the Indian changed the bow.

When the canoe was finally finished, the Indian launched it in the near-by river, but it capsized. He hauled it back on the beach, found another log and began again.

Once more a man came along and offered advice, but this time the Indian answered, "That boat over there -- that everybody's boat," pointing to the monstrosity on the bank. "This one Indian's boat!"

H.L. Hunt Says

PERSONAL ENTERPRISE VS. BUREAUCRACY

A bureaucratically-run business operation cannot function as well as a privately-operated business. Ample proof is found by comparing two organizations dealing with communications: the United States Post Office Department, run by the government, and American Telephone and Telegraph, a privately owned business.

Over the years, the telephone system has held its prices down, and in some cases substantially reduced them. In 1932, a three-minute station-to-station telephone call from Boston to San Francisco cost $9.50 during the day, $5.75 at night. Currently the day rate is $1.75, the night rate $1.00, a decrease of 82.5%.

In the postal system, the opposite has been true. In 1932 a first class letter, sent regular mail, cost 2 cents; by air mail, 5 cents. In 1968, a first class letter is now 6 cents regular mail, 10 cents air mail. The cost of living has gone up 20% in that time and the industrial price index 7%, but the Post Office rates have increased 65% and 100%.

The increased cost of the postal service compared to that of the telephone system can be traced largely to the relative efficiency of the two systems. Between 1930 and 1966, the telephone company increased the number of calls per employee handled daily by 125%, while the Post Office could increase the number of pieces of mail handled daily per employee by only 36%.

Since 1935, the telephone company has paid $30,045 million in taxes, while the Post Office has received a $12,843 million subsidy from the taxpayer. It is obvious from this comparison that bureaucrats do not make good businessmen. HLH.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

LABOR'S CIVIL WAR: National Labor Leaders Set To Raid Reuther's Auto Union. Atlantic City: For the moment Walter Reuther has the quip hand over the less rhetorical and more portly leaders of labor -- but they're set to give him the whipping of his life.

The Detroit redhead wants a fight and he'll get it. Labor's old time heavy-weights have him outnumbered, out-financed, outmaneuvered and isolated. That's obvious here from the count of fraternal visitors at the United Auto Workers massive 21st Constitutional Convention.

Though thousands cheer him here, he walks alone. No other union of consequence, perhaps not even one of the 129 national labor organizations in the AFL-CIO will bolt with him.

The teachers, whom he has claimed as friends, have turned to the big Machinists union to help them raise a million dollar militancy fund.

A United Rubber Workers' official has just told me that his union has not even discussed the matter and is "following AFL-CIO policy."

The government workers leader, John Griner, says rumors that the American Federation of Government Employees will leave the AFL-CIO are entirely false. And so it goes with old and new friends.

Reports of an alliance with the 2 million-member Teamsters union are as worthless as a Carstar ruble. The Teamster behemoth will rejoin the AFL-CIO by the end of 1969.

Informal talks between the labor federation and the Teamsters' Brotherhood are as ubiquitous as a Reuther invective. There is, in fact, installment plan merging.

The Teamsters are officially part of dozens of AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Councils across the nation -- and have worked closely with AFL-CIO unions in recent strikes.

They await only a Supreme Court rejection of Jim Hoffa's appeal from his five-year sentence for defrauding the Teamsters' Central States pension fund. This will mean he could not hold office in the huge union for many years -- and the "Teamsters" will roll back into the federation.

So will those old legions of the past, the United Mine Workers. This union's leaders await only the moment when the snow-white octogenarian John Llewellyn Lewis will fade from history.

Thus the AFL-CIO will grow mightier as Reuther grows lonelier. And the 73-year-old George Meany, who as they say inside labor grows younger as Reuther grows older, will lead the most powerful labor phalanx of the free world.

He's so little worried about the man from Detroit that he plans barely to mention "Walter" at next Monday's meeting in Washington. Meany, an old vaudeville buff, argues more strongly about what Smith and Dale said in the '20s than he does about what Reuther said 20 minutes ago.

Meany has the AFL-CIO 29-man council with him unanimously -- or almost so. There might be a lone champion of the auto-union's torch bearer.

The last thing Meany worries about is money. The federation has it.

In fact it can make a $500,000 annual profit if Reuther leaves. All it need do is raise the monthly per capita a penny a man -- 12 cents a year -- and he takes in more than Reuther has been paying.

In the past year the auto union pleaded poverty and was "exonerated" from paying four months dues to the AFL-CIO.

So Reuther's ultimatum will lead to civil war on the labor front here and abroad.

Many leaders of the 3.5 million-member building and construction trades unions have been itching to get at the redhead. But under the AFL-CIO Constitution's article 21, which outlaws raiding, the auto union has been protected.

The burly veteran leaders have taken his taunts. Now they're ready to slug back. They'll move in on his skilled trades.

They'll try to carve up his union by demanding that they get departmental jurisdiction over electricians, carpenters, pipefitters, etc., in plants big and small. They're fantastic tacticians. They're millions of dollars and battalions of lawyers.

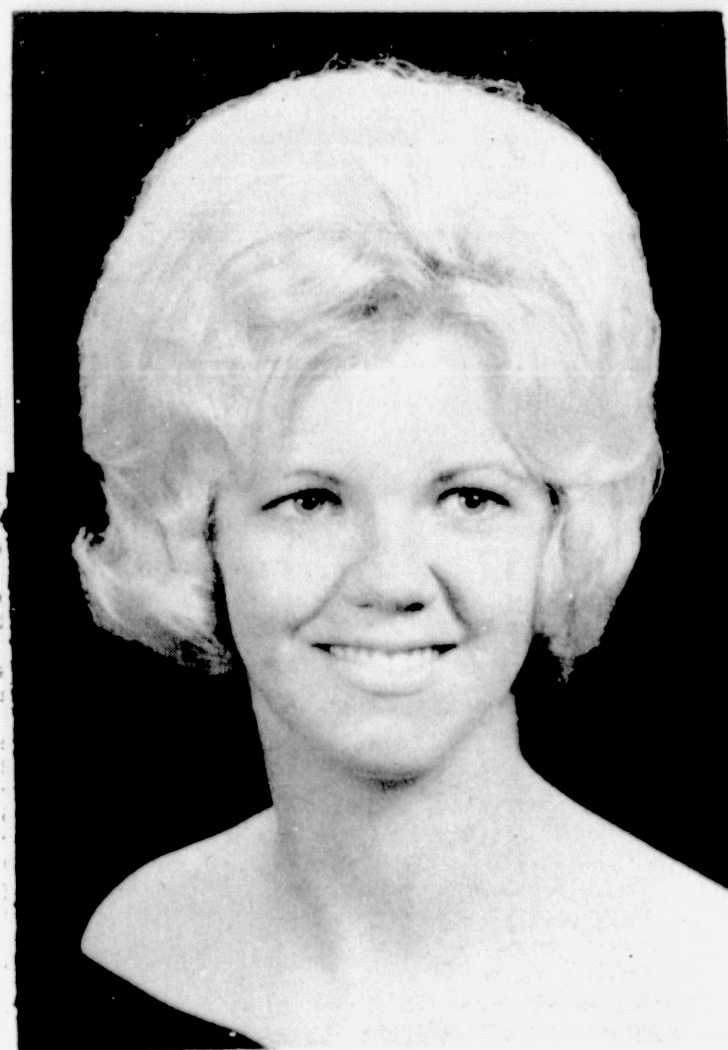

They've battled American presidents and have won. They've fought off political parties. They took all of John Lewis' Shakespearean slings and arrows, and isolated the man who shook the earth when he strode this land. When he left the movement, as Walter Reuther now leaves them, he faded into obscurity.

The Miners dwindled. The AFL-CIO grew so that it now represents fully 35 per cent of the American labor force -- eligible for unionization.

They may appear like the caricaturist's version of plumbers. They may talk

Bishop, Flaker Prep All-American's

Sports Corner

By Ron Jaynes

Two of Southeast Missouri's most prolific scorers and most exciting basketball players during the 1967-68 season were named to the honorable mention list of Coach and Athlete magazine's prep all-America basketball team today.

Both members of the class M state high school all-state team and one a two-year member led their teams in scoring.

Greg Flaker of Notre Dame high school in Cape Girardeau was the two year all-stater named and Leonard Bishop of the class M state champion Matthews Pirates team was the other named.

Only seniors are eligible for the squad selected by high school coaches, college scouts and sportswriters in the United States.

Flaker led his team to the class M state tournament his junior year in which it finished third and Flaker was named to the all-state team.

Bishop was named to the all-state team this season along with Flaker and teammate Amon Ring after the pair led their team to the state Class M championship.

The selection of the players for the All-America team is based on character, basketball ability, sportsmanship,

A check of the man's tax return revealed that he actually owed $5 in tax. Merrill said the whole amount will be tossed into the pot with other tax monies without asking the man for a corrected tax form.

Cindermen Lose Dual Meet at Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Cape Girardeau Central Tigers defeated the Sikeston Bulldogs in a dual track meet Tuesday. Cape outscored the Bulldogs 89 to 52. Despite a strong wind there were several outstanding performances by the athletes from both schools.

Sikeston's top performances came from Art Jackson and Turner Marshall in the broad jump and triple jump. Jackson and Marshall both surpassed the old school record in the broad jump which was set in 1963 at a distance of 21 feet, 3 inches. Jackson leaped 21 feet, 11 1/2 inches while Marshall leaped 21 feet, 7 inches. Marshall also broke the school record in the triple jump with a jump of 41 feet, 8 inches, which surpassed the old record by one foot and three inches.

Cape's top performance was turned in by Alvin Miller with a jump of 45 feet 7 1/2 inches, in the triple jump, best in the area this year and probably one of the best in the state.

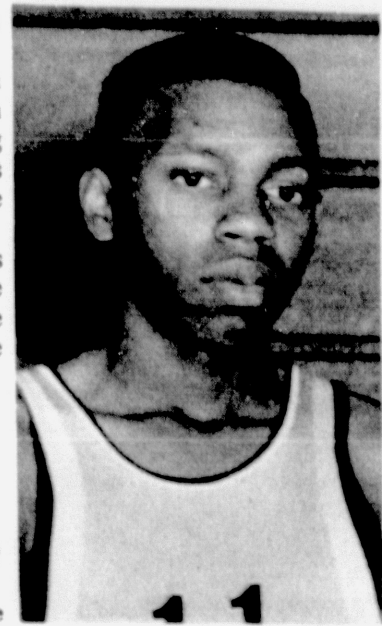

The most exciting event was the 880 relay. This race was nip and tuck all the way with the lead changing hands several times. Art Jackson pulled ahead with about 20 yards to go and sewed it up for the speedy Bulldogs. This relay team consisting of Dennis Snelling, Terry Bryant, Riley Gross, and Art Jackson has the fastest time in Southeast Missouri and should win in the district and go on to the state meet in Columbia.

Coach Lambert has been working the boys on their handoffs in order to reduce their time even more.

Sikeston's sprinters showed their superiority by taking three places in the 100-yard dash and the first two places in the 220-yard dash. Snelling, Gross, and Jackson took first and second in the 220. Willie Savage also placed second in the 440-yard dash.

Other winners for Sikeston were Don Jones in the mile run. David Newberry took second in the pole vault. Larry Proffer took second in the high jump. Gary Long took second in the low hurdles and third in the high hurdles. John Scarbrough took third in the low hurdles.

Sikeston will be lost to the district track meet tomorrow at public school stadium. Preliminaries begin at 4 p.m. and the finals begin at 6:45 p.m.

Rider's basketball team lost four regulars before the season was half-way finished. They had a dislocated shoulder, a broken ankle, a broken collarbone and a broken foot.

When East Carolina beat George Washington 71-68 in basketball it marked their first victory after 18 straight defeats on the road.

Captain Bill Dow of Navy's 1967 football team has been playing with the Middle varsity basketball team.

UCLA's basketball team averaged 103.4 points a game in the Bruins first 10 games this season.

A Springfield man won the top prize in the Forsyth, Mo., "White Bass Round-Up" which concluded April 30. Charles Coonrod, a City Utilities lineman, caught the largest white bass reported in more than a month of fishing on Upper Bull Shoals Lake in the Forsyth area.

The winning fish tipped the Hobart scales at three pounds, twelve ounces. Coonrod's performance was of truly championship calibre as he entered 12 fish in the competition that qualified as "lunkers," weighing three pounds or more.

For his efforts, Coonrod won a new Berkley Para-Metric Rod and Berkley 440 Ultra-Light Reel which was presented by Dr. John Clark, White Bass Round-Up chairman and president of the Forsyth Chamber of Commerce.

This year's winning fish, which was caught on a gold Rapala, was not a personal record for Coonrod. Two years ago he landed a four pound, two ounce white bass. He has been a steady angler in the Forsyth area for nine years. In three weeks of fishing this year, he missed catching his daily limit of 15 on only a few days.

Dr. Clark announced that plans are already being made to expand the 1969 White Bass Round-Up, with more prizes and entertainment. The Jaycees fish fry, held in Shadow Rock Park April 13, was a sell-out; hundreds of individual prizes were awarded, and nearly 1,000 souvenir badges were distributed.

High water conditions greatly favored boat fishermen this year, whereas in most years those fishing off the bank compete on a nearly equal basis. The number of fish caught in the Forsyth area each year during the white bass spawning season numbers well up in the thousands. Most spectacular catches this year were in Beaver Creek, and the world famous "Pothole" below Powersite Dam.

The Conservation Commission has approved the employment of Wayne R. Porath of Ames, Iowa, as a game research biologist to replace George K. Brakelage who has resigned.

Porath, whose appointment will be effective June 10, will be assigned to deer research projects and will be headquartered in Columbia.

Porath has bachelor of science degrees from Iowa State University, and has been employed by the Iowa Conservation Department.

Hunters killed 1,271 turkeys in the five days of Missouri's 1968 wild turkey season, April 24 through 28. The harvest was an even 80 more than the 1,191 in last year's seven-day hunt.

First reports indicated a final total of 1,261, but a recount of daily tabulations found an additional 10 birds.

The daily kill figures this year were 329; 308; 235; 232; and 167. Last year, the daily kill was: 336; 105; 172; 178; 152; and 95.

SHS Bows In State Playoff

The Sikeston high school baseballers, march toward a state high school baseball title ended yesterday. They bowed to a well rounded West Plains team, 5-2. West Plains advances to regional play at Cape Girardeau Wednesday most likely against a rugged Jackson Indian team.

Things would not fall into place for the Bulldogs. Time after time they would begin to show life and then falter.

Mike Garner did about everything yesterday to try to pull the game out of the fire for his teammates. He singled in the first inning to extend his hitting streaks to 13 straight games. He caught for two innings doing his usually excellent job. He pitched the last five and 1/3 innings in relief allowing his opponents one run and two hits.

It was the disastrous second inning that ruined the Dogs' hopes of moving on in state play. West Plains pushed across four of their five runs.

It went like this. Dennis Harris and Joe Fox led off the inning with singles, then Mike Cawwe reached base on an error and two runs were scored. Joey Howell reached base next on a walk and Ron Luvin forced him at second making the first out of the inning.

Gaylord Gregory then walked. Roger Cromer, singled to right off the foot of a Sikeston player driving in the third run of the inning. The final run was scored when Bruce Basham walked, driving in the fourth run of the inning. Garner came in to take the mound with bases loaded and retired the westerners.

West Plains scored its fifth run in the fourth inning when Pitcher Gaylord Gregory singled.

Center Fielder Don Harris tripled to deep right center field. He was thrown out trying to stretch it into a home run. Gary Wiss made the throw to cut Harris down and Roger McDaniels did an excellent job of blocking the plate off from Harris and then putting the tag on him.

Sikeston scored its two runs by putting together four hits in the fourth inning.

Webb Edwards started by singling to left. Gary Wiss singled to right field. Pat Hart moved them over to second and third with a deep fly to right field. Senior Ed Felker delivered the big hit with a line drive single to left driving in Sikeston's first two runs and its only two runs in the fourth inning.

The loss moved the Bulldogs to the last of the seventh in one final effort but failed, leaving two ducks on the pond ending of Cape Girardeau.

In case yesterday's game the Bulldogs happens to be the last for the record to 9 and 4 and the Dogs seniors, who wore their winners to 15 and 1. The school colors for the last time, baseballers outfit the West were Wiss, Webb Edwards, Hart, Plains team six to five but McDaniels, Felker, and the team bunched four of their hits leader and captain, Garner.

Collecting hits for the Dogs were Stan Sorrells, Garner, Webb Edwards, Wiss, Charlie Dye, and Felker. Each got a single.

The Dogs' future is a uncertain. They have no schedule game but hope to get a final effort but failed, leaving double header with Notre Dame two ducks on the pond ending of Cape Girardeau.

Kennedy Bucks Humphrey for UAW Support

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was vote-hunting today among United Auto Workers, whose help Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey asked for Wednesday in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination against Kennedy and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

Some 3,000 convention delegates representing the UAW's 1.6 million members are gathered here. Humphrey scarcely had left convention hall before "We want Kennedy" placards and banners began replacing those proclaiming "We Want HHH." McCarthy and two Republican candidates for nomination, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, reported they had been unable to work acceptances of UAW invitations into their schedules.

The union usually backs Democrats, but has decided to withhold endorsement of any presidential candidate until after the Republican and Democratic conventions this summer. Humphrey pleaded with the delegates to back President Johnson as strongly in Vietnam peace negotiations as they would their union leaders in contract negotiations. Delegates applauded Humphrey often and his introduction set off an around-the-hall parade of several score of placard-carrying supporters led by a drummer and two accordion players.

The Daily Standard, Sikeston, Mo. Thursday, May 9, 1968. 5

Among the loudest cheers he took it as a mandate from them to send "a telegram of warmth and congratulations" to the former president. Claiming "25 years of close association with the people and policies of the UAW," Humphrey ended his appearance in the same hall where he won the vice presidential nomination four years ago with: "I ask your help."

Why it pays to control early-season cotton insects

Here's why it pays you to apply only 4 to 8 ounces of Malathion ULV* Concentrate to achieve ultra-low-volume control of thrips, fleahoppers and leafhoppers:

- gets cotton off to a fast start
- cotton fruits faster
- produces a larger, higher quality, early yield

This year, use Malathion ULV Concentrate, the only insecticide registered for ultra-low-volume control of early-season insects.

Showdown on UAW Dues Dispute Near

The Daily Standard, Sikeston, Mo.
Thursday, May 9, 1968

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers union, currently renewing threats to quit the 14-millionmember AFL-CIO, faces the possibility of being kicked out next week for nonpayment of dues.

The Auto Workers, issuing new attacks on AFL-CIO President George Meany's leadership from its convention in Atlantic City, will be three months and about $250,000 behind in dues May 15 and face automatic expulsion, informed sources said.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council, meeting next week, may take up the matter and some sources predict a majority of its members may be angered enough to oust Reuther's union if it doesn't pay up.

Sources say AFL-CIO leaders are miffed at Reuther's announcement the Auto Workers may put its per capita AFL-CIO dues in escrow pending settlement of its demands for internal reform of the federation.

The Auto Workers, largest of the AFL-CIO's 128 unions, pays about $1 million a year into its treasury.

This is the second time in its long feud with the AFL-CIO that the Auto Workers has withheld dues almost up to the suspension deadline.

Meany previously ignored most of Reuther's actions. But there are new elements in the deepening split between the two men who founded the AFL-CIO 13 years ago by merging Meany's American Federation of Labor with the Reuther-led Congress of Industrial Organizations.

They are also now moving apart on presidential politics and the impending Poor People's Campaign in the nation's capital.

Meany, 73, is throwing the AFL-CIO's support behind Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The 60-year-old Reuther, reelected Tuesday to a 12th term as UAW president, is officially keeping the Auto Workers neutral in the fight for the Democratic presidential nomination. But he is reliably reported leaning toward Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York.

Reuther has endorsed the Poor Peoples' Campaign. Meany, while taking no official position, is reportedly cool to the idea of thousands of marchers besieging government buildings in Washington.

In his latest slap at Meany's leadership, Reuther charged at the Auto Workers convention that the AFL-CIO is "ruled by the dead hand of the past."

Replied Meany: "The American trade union movement today is in the best condition in its entire history."

Meany cites a 14 per cent growth of membership in AFL-CIO unions th p st three years, record-high wages and a powerful voice in national politics and legislation as proof of labor's growing strength.

Reuther says the growth doesn't match the rise in employment—and that millions of white-collar workers, farm laborers and others aren't being organized into unions fast enough.

Navy Officer Claims Ship Had Mutiny

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter, stripped of a ship's command after junior officers' complaints, has told a special congressional committee there was mutiny on the vessel.

Arnheiter, a 42-year-old career Navy officer, was relieved as captain of the destroyer escort Vance in 1966 after the Navy ruled he showed "a serious lack of judgment" and "knowingly and deliberately committed many derelictions."

Capt. Richard G. Alexander, 45, who lost command of the battleship New Jersey after interceding with Defense Department authorities on Arnheiter's behalf, is to testify today.

Appearing Tuesday before a committee called together by Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y.—who vows to get the case "before Congress or to the White House if needs be"—Arnheiter said that when he assumed command of the Vance, "complete bedlam" existed.

He contended morale was low, the vessel was rusty and infested with cockroaches "and I began to wonder what I had inherited."

He testified throughout the first day of the scheduled three-day hearing, saying he wanted his "day in court under proper naval proceedings" and that this had been denied him. His wife sat two rows behind him in the crowded committee room.

There are no official Navy witnesses at the hearing, Resnick said the Navy has refused to cooperate or participate in the inquiry.

Arnheiter, a decorated Naval Academy graduate with seven years of sea duty aboard destroyers, said his intention aboard the Vance was to "take a lax ship and make it into a fighting ship." Denying any improper conduct, he said, "My major intent was ... to take this ship into a war zone with a shipshape crew who would be proud of the ship and of whom the U.S. Navy could be proud."

Arnheiter said he met resistance in his efforts.

"Did you feel there was actual mutiny aboard the Vance?" attorney Marvin Lewis asked Arnheiter.

"Yes," Arnheiter replied, puffing on a cigar.

He said he filed charges alleging mutiny over the objections of the commander of the Pacific destroyer force.

Arnheiter now is shore-based near San Francisco and Alexander has a desk job in Boston.

Write-in Appeal to Be Tested

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska's presidential primary Tuesday could give New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey a clearer idea of their appeal in the farm belt.

Neither entered the presidential race in time to be listed on the ballot, but both have backers working to get impressive write-in totals.

Nebraska voters long have used freely the prerogative of writing in candidates in their presidential primary. Cross-over voting from one party to another, a factor in the Indiana primary, is not permitted in Nebraska.

Listed on the Democratic ballot are Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, winner of the Indiana primary; Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and President Johnson.

An Associated Press survey of delegate sentiment taken after President Johnson announced he would not run showed Humphrey stands to pick up at least as many delegates as Kennedy from the scramble. McCarthy, however, has more delegate candidates pledged or leaning toward him than either rivals.

Most Republican observers predict an easy victory for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who out-pollled the late President John F. Kennedy in this state by 148,000 votes in 1960.

There is organized support for Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. Neither is on the ballot and neither has campaigned in this state. Nixon predicted this week that his vote will equal that of Rockefeller and Reagan combined.

On the GOP ballot with Nixon are former Minnesota Gov. Harold Stassen, who won the Nebraska primary 20 years ago, and American Liberator, an ex-coxswain from Valentine, Neb. Neither is regarded as a serious threat.

The presidential preference primary in this state is little more than a popularity contest—since delegates to the two national conventions are voted on separately.

Under Nebraska law, candidates for delegates may run as committed to a particular candidate or as uncommitted.

Kennedy Organization Proves Formidable

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The Kennedy men, money and mystique were simply too much for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and Gov. Roger D. Branigin in the Indiana Democratic presidential primary Tuesday.

While he didn't get a majority, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy emerged as the winner of the three-man joust with 42 per cent of the vote.

But McCarthy remained politically alive in defeat to fight another day and perhaps on more favorable ground, although his New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries victories were dimmed by his third-place finish. He got 27 per cent of the vote.

For Branigin, an uncommitted favorite son who ran second, there was the consolation that he might yet save some of the state's 63 convention nominating votes. If he did, it was presumed that they eventually might find their way into the roll call column of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Branigin got 31 per cent of the total Democratic vote and won in two congressional districts. McCarthy's percentage was 27. He led in no congressional districts.

It was something of a juggernaut that Kennedy mounted in Indiana. He saturated the state with advance men, organizers and follow-up operatives. He spent money liberally to transport himself, his retinue, his relatives and his big name friends to all corners of the state. He overwhelmed his opponents with television time.

Against this McCarthy's largely volunteer organization, which had worked so well in previous primaries, couldn't muster crowds or stir up interest to rival that of the Kennedy road show. Branigin didn't even

Grammy Show Good TV Fare

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual Grammy Awards show is usually a forthright no-nonsense program that comes along months after the awards have been passed out. It can, therefore, skip all the build-up and envelope-opening and present a tuneful summary of the season's top recordings.

The NBC special Wednesday night was no exception, although it was more sleek, more colorful and more sophisticated than in past years. It concentrated for the most part on music and musicians.

The hour show opened with the Fifth Dimension singing their hit, "Up, Up and Away," voted best record by the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences. The tune, which certainly is catchy, has had its effect considerably watered down since it has been adopted as the musical signature of an airline—although every time the number is played, it is like a built-in plug.

Bobbie Gentry and Glen Campbell, both multiple winners, came along with their hit numbers. John Hartford sang "Gentle on My Mind" which he wrote. Lou Rawls was engaged with his "Dead End Street." Cannonball Adderley and his quintet had a quietly effective instrumental number.

From a visual standpoint, one of the most effective numbers was built around Campbell's singing of "By the Time I get to Phoenix." It involved some trick photography and had the performer literally playing two roles on the same screen. However, the tricky photography got a little out of hand in one Bobbie Gentry number that showed the singer's whole figure as she sat playing her guitar and at the same time a huge closeup of her face filled in the background it was unusual, but distracting.

One of the most delightful moments came with a medley with Jack Jones, Miss Gentry and Campbell singing winning Grammy songs of the past 10 years. Many of them were memorable tunes, now standards.

Bill Dana spent most of last summer traveling 15,000 miles around the nation filming "Discover America with Joe Jimenez" which will be an NBC special on Friday, May 17. Most of the program was shot in interesting but off-beat places.

One day he ran into an acquaintance, a small-time nightclub entertainer, who asked Dana where he was working. Dana told him about a Pennsylvania Dutch folk festival, a Hannibal, Missouri fence painting contest, a Gloucester, Mass., fisherman's fiesta and Indian rain dances in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

The man's face became more and more sympathetic: "Who the hell is booking you these days?" he asked.

Chaffee Annexation Ruled Out by Judge

CHAFFEE -- Circuit Judge Marshall Craig has denied the city of Chaffee's suit for a declaratory judgment in the annexation of about 700 acres of land adjacent to the city limits.

The land the city sought to annex is owned by Ruben Meyer and the Vandivort Brothers north of town and Raymond Dame and Cornelius LeGrand south of the city.

John P. Bradshaw, Chaffee city attorney, handled the case for the city.

Judge Craig heard oral summations by attorneys for both sides April 19.

The case was tried early this past February with several Chaffee residents testifying both for and against the proposed annexation.

The city had the burden of proof in the case and the judge was bound to decide if the evidence the city presented warranted calling an election to annex the ground sought.

Mayor R. H. Capshaw stated that the city will change the boundaries for proposed annexation and file a new suit in the circuit court.

Referring to about 135 public housing units now being proposed by a newly formed Chaffee public housing authority, the new hospital, and other building the city needs the Mayor said, "more land is badly needed by the city and is imperative to the progressive steps taken in Chaffee."

Mayor Capshaw appointed Councilmen Ron Whitaker, Bill Pfefferkorn and Bob Kielhofner to check into the matter and recommend a new annexation procedure to the council.

The Mayor added, "This city is built flush with the city limits and there is no room to expand without annexation. If the court would have visited the town and looked at our problem first hand there would have been no other decision possible than to grant the request for annexation."

The mayor and city council indicated at last Thursday's meeting that they would not appeal the case to a higher court because of the time required to gain a position on the crowded court docket.

Suit Tests N.Y. Sale of Private Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — A computer-era privacy battle looms in the Supreme Court over New York State's sale of auto registration data to the highest commercial bidder.

Author Corliss Lamont, a wealthy New Yorker, wants the practice stopped and the state law that authorizes it declared an unconstitutional invasion of privacy.

Computers have become so efficient and so sophisticated, he said recently in an appeal, "a terrifying array of personal information" becomes available at the push of a button.

If sale of auto registration data is permitted, he said, other public records could readily find their way to private hands.

New Yorkers, like car owners everywhere, have to supply the state with certain information when registering a vehicle: name, address, date of birth, sex and the like.

The state then reproduces the registration applications on 35 mm microfilm rolls and sells them, with lists of car owners, to the highest "responsible" bidder.

The information, Lamont said, is then used for unsolicited mail and telephone pitches, especially in the auto trade.

New York sold the list for $36,000 this year to R. L. Polk & Co., a Delaware corporation.

Federal Judge Marvin E. Frankel of New York City dismissed Lamont's suit last June. He said the information sold is not vital or intimate.

Polk, the company that seems to deal with most of the states, says the only exceptions are Alaska, Illinois, Kentucky, South Dakota, Washington and the District of Columbia.

The U.S. Circuit Court in New York City affirmed Frankel's ruling last December.

Last Tuesday, New York

The Daily Standard, Sikeston, Mo. Thursday, May 9, 1968

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, responding in a brief to the Supreme Court, told the court "it cannot be plausibly contended that the information required of the motor vehicle registrant touches the individual's private life or habits."

Interstate Bakeries Earnings Increase

Kansas City - Earnings of Interstate Bakeries Corp. for the first 16 weeks ended April 20, rose 4.02 per cent to $1,060,166, equal to 50 cents a share, and sales increased a record 11 per cent to $65,409,340, according to Ernest B. Hueter, president.

Net income in the like 1967 period was $1,019,145 or 49 cents a share of common stock adjusted for the two-for-one stock dividend effected Aug. 1, 1967, and net sales amounted to $58,933,534.

Sales and earnings for the 16 weeks included eight weeks of the recently acquired Millbrook Bread division of National Biscuit Co. The integration of these bakery operations is progressing satisfactorily, Hueter said, but noted that "it will be some time before all the potential benefits projected for the Millbrook Division are realized."

The acquisition included eight producing plants, 700 vehicles, 20 distribution depots and involved approximately 1,800 employees.

On April 29, the board of directors approved a quarterly dividend of 22½ cents a share on the common stock and $1.20 a share on the preferred to stockholders of record June 14, 1968, payable June 28, 1968.

Hueter said that IBC is screening acquisition possibilities in the food and non-food fields in line with its announced diversification program.

IBC sells bread products under the brand names of Blue Seal, Butternut, Cobb's Four S, Hart's, Mrs. Karl's, Sweetheart, Millbrook and Weber's and cake products under the grand names of Blue Ribbon and Dolly Madison.

$39-Million Hike Proposed for Schools

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sen. A. B. Vanlandingham, D-Columbia, chairman of the Senate Education Committee and of an interim committee studying public financing, proposed Tuesday night that state aid to schools be increased by $39 million a year for four years.

That, he said, would bring Missouri aid to education up to the national average of aid per pupil.

He also proposed that special education programs be established for the training of students in the inner city areas of the metropolitan areas.

Vanlandingham said Missouri must develop such a program before figuring out how it should be financed. At the end of four years it would mean the schools would get $140 million more a year than now. He made the suggestions at a meeting of the St. Louis Teachers Association.

McNamara Wall Reports Skimpy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon declines to say whether the so-called "McNamara Wall" obstacle system is limiting infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam.

And the Defense Department — while acknowledging the barrier never underwent usual cost-effectiveness studies — won't say why.

The absence of cost-effectiveness studies along lines demanded by former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, under whose auspices the barrier system was created, emerges from congressional testimony.

It comes at a time when reported heavy North Vietnamese infiltration has from Sen. Stuart Symington, raised questions about the barrier's effectiveness.

The Pentagon has come as part of a study conducted by the Institute for Defense Analysis, a private Demilitarized Zone, where the barrier system is located, as well as around the DMZ's western Symington a breac own of actual border with Laos. Electronic and projected system costs but features of the obstacle system sensors deleted this data from a transcript released later. The scope of the spending, however, was indicated in several Symington remarks about the billion-dollar "Maginot Line concept."

The Pentagon declined to provide the cost figures, saying this might tip off the enemy to the scale of the effort.

McNamara would state publicly only that the system would include equipment ranging from barbed wire to "highly sophisticated devices."

These devices, one officer says, include air-dropped seismic units which send off signals whenever enemy troops or vehicles enter the area. Electronics planes receive the signals and dispatch bombers to meet the invaders.

The system also includes several manned strongpoints below the DMZ, along with cleared areas and minefields.

M16 Rifle Case to Be Reopened

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House Armed Services subcommittee that investigated the M16 rifle a year ago will reconvene to examine what its chairman calls "unrealistically high" prices in two new procurement contracts.

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., said Wednesday his subcommittee also plans to ask the Army why it rejected the bid of an arms manufacturer whose price was $20 million below that of one successful bidder, General Motors.

"I believe the public is entitled to a full explanation of the matter and we intend to examine the whole matter in detail," Ichord said.

The subcommittee, which charged in its report last October that the M16 program had been "grossly mismanaged," will reopen hearings next Tuesday.

The latest M16 furor erupted after Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., told the Senate that Maremont Co., of Saco, Maine — sole supplier of the Army's M60 machine gun — failed to get one of two contracts awarded despite its offer to supply 240,000 rifles for a ceiling price of $36 million.

Instead two-year contracts for production of 240,000 rifles each were awarded to Harrington & Richardson of

C. D. ALCORN takes down messages received over the noon hour, on his new Record-O-Fone, at his office on South Main street.

Phone Message Recorder Extends Business Hours

Business can go on as usual if the business establishment is equipped with a communication system.

Sikeston area businessmen have installed a new system, which keeps them in contact with their businesses, regardless of where they are or the time.

The new instrument is called a Record-o-Fone, measuring almost two feet long, six inches high and eight inches high.

C. D. Alcorn, one of the owners, says:

"The small electronic box has many advantages. Last Saturday for instance, my son wanted me to take him fishing. I turned the machine on, went fishing for several hours, and when I came back, I wrote the messages down on a sheet of paper. One of the messages was from an out-of-town visitor. I followed up and a sale resulted from the message."

The machine contains a small tape for up to 16 minutes of messages. The tape can be erased and is ready for another group of messages.

"It works in many ways," Alcorn commented:

"Here is a message from my mother saying she had baked a chocolate cake and for me to come by and pick it up," he said.

Alcorn also has a key that can be carried to wherever he goes. If, for instance, he is in a distant city anywhere in the United States, he can dial his home or office, move the key up to the telephone mouthpiece, and press a button, it will turn on the recorder, and play back the messages. When finished the tape will erase and he is ready for other messages.

As many as 24 to 64 messages can be taken down by the recorder. There are 38 such units in Southeast Missouri.

Pope Plans to Visit Colombia

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI announced today he will make a two- or three-day visit to Colombia in August to attend the 38th International Eucharistic Congress in Bogota and to open a Latin-American bishops conference in Medellin.

It will be the longest trip in the 70-year-old pontiff's reign and the first by a pope to Latin America.

He made no mention of visiting other Latin American countries that have invited him, but there was a possibility of airport stopovers.

His announcement to a crowd of pilgrims at his weekly general audience in St. Peter's Basilica brought cheers.

The trip will be Pope Paul's sixth journey abroad since he became head of the Roman Catholic Church in June 1963.

He previously visited the Holy Land, the United Nations in New York, India, Portugal and Turkey.

In the background (l. to r.) are the Cozads' three sons, Kevin, 10, Patrick, 12, and 4 year old Kipp, the subject in the prize winning photograph. Among the Cozads' prizes are a Chrysler boat and motor, skis, fishing tackle, a motion picture camera and a vacation for two in Missouri.

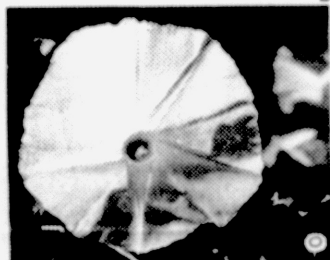

bright lights

A good defensive measure to follow when you are blinded by oncoming headlights is to slow down and NEVER look at the glaring lights. Look to the right edge of the road and keep as far to the right as possible. Don't flash your bright lights at the approaching driver.

MISSOURI STATE HIGHWAY PATROL

Pearly Gates

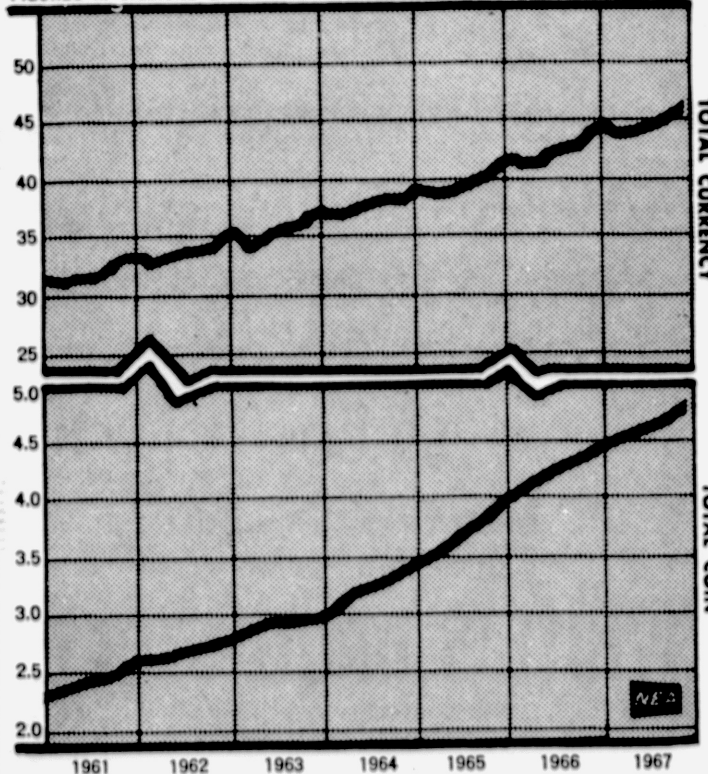

A morning glory of shining white which will bloom all summer long can grace your garden.

The imaginative name in the title above is that of a morning glory. As you can guess, its flower color is shining white. Morning glories give so much for so little. They bloom from July until frost and are easily grown from seeds planted in full sun. A spot protected from high winds is ideal and rich soil is to be avoided so vines do not produce excessive foliage. Vines grow 8 feet and more high, provide shade as well as flowers.

U.S. CURRENCY AND COIN IN CIRCULATION

FIGURES IN BILLIONS OF DOLLARS

During fiscal 1967 and the first six months of 1968, U.S. coin production was limited to composite or clad-type coins. The growth in total number of coins produced in the 18-month period slackened substantially—an indication that the shortage had been alleviated. The smooth change-over from silver to clad coins has proved the value of money is not determined by gold or silver, but rather if money can adequately perform the economic functions for which it is designed.

James C. Bennett, 20, St. Louis, is in critical condition today in Missouri Delta Community hospital, following a one car accident at 12:58 a.m. at School and Dorothy streets.

The car Bennett was driving struck a tree, police reported. Bennett is believed to have internal injuries and a possible skull fracture. He was still in the recovery room at 1 p.m. today.

Seven charges were filed on an East Prairie man arrested by Sikeston police at 3:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Gabriel Tyronne Weatherspoon, East Prairie, was charged with running three stop signs, exceeding the speed limit, driving on the wrong side of the street. State charges of driving without an operator's license and writing bad checks also were filed. He was transferred to Scott county authorities.

Police officer Thurman Burns noticed the car Weatherspoon was driving turned at a high rate of speed from Kingshighway on to Murray Lane. He then, chased Weatherspoon and observed him driving on the wrong side of Murray Lane and driving at a high rate of speed.

Weatherspoon ran stop signs at School and Gladys and Scott and at Murray Lane

Meramec Basin Plan Defended

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Gamble, executive vice president of the Meramec Basin Association, defended a $1 million budget request for land acquisition in testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee hearing Tuesday.

Gamble said the project would provide flood and water pollution control, recreation, fish and wildlife benefits for about one-tenth of Missouri.

Opponents of the plan charged last week that the funds would be used for a "private land grab" and to promote resorts rather than recreation.

Glynn C. Rice, president of the Meramec Valley Land Protective Association, asked a congressional investigation of "motivation" of backers of the project. He charged that 92 percent of the land adjoining the proposed project belonged to St. Louis syndicates or members and companies related to the MBA.

Gamble's association introduced two statements into the subcommittee record Tuesday to answer these

Al Kingshighway, Burns said. He was stopped on South Main near the Dace Body Shop.

In other activity, John E. Nichols, Delta Motel, Sikeston, was arrested by police at 2 p.m. Tuesday on a state warrant charging him with parole violation.

A car driven by Evelyn Reeves, Matthews, struck the rear of an automobile driven by Russell A. Frohawk, route three, Sikeston, at 6:47 a.m. today on East Malone. No one was injured.

An automobile driven by Barbara Williams, Sikeston, struck the side of a pickup truck driven by William P. Hunter, 216 Tanner, at 8:03 a.m. today on Kingshighway at Salcedo road, police reported. No one was injured and no charges were filed.

Brick fell from a truck onto a car driven by David Doggett, 206 Missouri, at 7:12 p.m. Tuesday at South Main and Gladys. The truck was driven by James Miederhoff, 321 Edmondson, police reported.

A car driven by Jackie R. Pipkin, Matthews, struck a tree at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday on the Sikeston high school drive at Pine Street, police reported.

Four to Attend Training Session

ST. LOUIS — Mrs. Wanda M. Wilson of the Bollinger, Cape Girardeau and Perry County Human Resources Corp., Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. Mary F. Allen, Mrs. Leona N. Boyer and Mrs. Elnora Pullen, all of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corp., Portageville, are expected to attend a three-day training program beginning Tuesday.

The program will be conducted by the Multi-Purpose Training Center of the University of Missouri at Kansas City.

The meeting will be at the Holiday Inn.

Both statements emphasized that no MBA members received advance information of the pattern of land acquisition and said that "the advantages or disadvantages of the projects in the basin program have never been items of business in the board or executive committee meetings of the association."

The subcommittee is expected to issue its report on the hearings June 7.

Bakery Strike Produces Run On Bread

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Retail grocers in the St. Louis area are selling bread as fast as they can get it. The only catch is that there's very little to be bought.

A strike against eight major St. Louis bakeries entered its sixth day today and hardest hit were the smaller grocery stores. The larger chain and independent stores were doing brisk business in bread baked in their own bakeries, but the supply was limited.

Members of Bakers Union No. 4 of the American Baker and Confectionery Workers struck struck Saturday and picket lines were set up at the eight plants owned by five baking companies. The union rejected an offer providing an increase of 20 cents an hour the first year and 17 cents in the second of a proposed two-year contract.

Negotiations were continuing.

Blind Student to Effort to Assist Visually Handicapped

ATCHISON, Kan. (AP) — Nobody could dispute that Thomas L. Danler is the perfect choice of a person to help visually handicapped students this summer at a state home for the mentally retarded in Dixon, Ill.

Danler, a junior majoring in English here at St. Benedict's College, is blind himself. But it doesn't slow him down a bit.

The student, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Danler of Kman, Kan., keeps up a full schedule of extracurricular activities in addition to maintaining a 2.89 grade average on a 4.0 scale.

He works with juvenile delinquents, won a campus talent show by playing the saxophone, assists the college's athletic trainer, plays soccer and basketball, and takes part in gym class relay events and weight lifting.

"The students are beginning to see me as an individual — Thomas Danler — and not just as 'The Blind Man,'" the youth explained. "I want to prove I am a particular person, an individual with personality and understanding."

Although he can't see where he's going, Danler has learned the campus as well he often runs from place to place.

Fellow students, encouraged by Danler's own light approach to his blindness, call him "Batman," "Sonar" or "Rocky."

Those kids in Dixon, Ill., are in for quite an experience this summer.

MEDAL AWARDED AFTER 20 YEARS

HONOLULU (AP) It took 20 years of waiting but John A. Weber of Honolulu received a Norwegian medal of merit for rescuing a man 650 miles off the Massachusetts coast.

Weber was a pilot of a Martin Mariner for the Coast Guard in 1947 and made an emergency landing on a rough, choppy ocean to take a sick Norwegian sailor off a ship.

Later Congress objected to the awarding of foreign medals to Americans. However, 20 years later, the red tape removed, Weber received the medal from Rear Adm. Benjamin F. Engel, U.S. Coast Guard commandant in Honolulu.

Surviving Two Heart Patients Making Progress

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — One heart transplant patient in St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital has died. Doctors expressed satisfaction today with the progress of two others.

James Cobb, 48, of Alexandria, La., salesman, died Wednesday after receiving the heart of a 15-year-old boy Sunday night.

Everett Claire Thomas, 47, of Phoenix, Ariz., who received a new heart last Friday, was able to walk in a private room to which he was moved Wednesday. He has a telephone and television in the room that was specially arranged for him.

John Stuckwish, 62, of Alpine, Tex., who Tuesday became the hospital's third heart transplant patient in less than five days, was described as "a little lethargic" but able to respond to commands.

Dr. Denton A. Cooley, who heads the surgical team, indicated Cobb died of infection that resulted from reaction to drugs necessary to prevent tissue rejection.

The mine passage was only 36 inches high for most of its two-mile reach into the mountain. Two men are a half-mile farther in than the 13 others, presumed dead.

Ambulances arriving late Wednesday night set off the first wave of anticipation. But H. E. Sundstrom, overnight supervisor of rescue operations said of an imminent rescue, "It definitely is not so. Whoever called for those ambulances didn't do so on my orders."

The rescuers encountered difficulty in trying to put an 800-gallon-a-minute pump into operation where the water was deepest. They hit bedrock with their drills 200 feet from the shaft. Ten other pumps were continuing to take out water at the rate of 3,200 gallons a minute.

"Island of Whispers" Sabai, an island between New Guinea and the northern tip of Australia, is known to pearls as the "Island of Whispers." All the natives speak in a low, whispery voice. Strait pearls believe that something in the drinking water affects the vocal cords.
